Gravest Incident Since End of War

Korean Reds Kill Six Yanks, President Only Miles Away

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean troops ambushed and killed six American soldiers and one South Korean below the armistice line before dawn today while President and Mrs. Johnson slept 30 miles away.

The incident was the gravest involving Americans since the Korean War ended in 1953. It occurred eight hours before Johnson left Korea for the United States.

One Survivor

In Anchorage, Alaska, the traveling White House said Johnson has asked for a complete report on the incident from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea and of the United Nations Command there. The President met with Bonesteel Tuesday when he visited American and South Korean troops during his stay in South Korea.

There was one survivor, an American, from the U.S. 2nd Wounded by a grenade but reported in good condition, he said the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms.

The Communists escaped and there was no indication that any were wounded.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Army said the attack occurred under a full moon and the firing was heard at the patrol's base camp. A motorized patrol was sent out to investigate and found the bodies and the wounded man.

Fire Returned

The spokesman said there was evidence that the patrol returned the Communist fire when it was ambushed. He described the clash as "quite a good engagement."

The United Nations Command announced that the eight-man patrol was jumped by the Communists about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

East of Libby Bridge

The ambush occurred east of Libby Bridge, one of two spanning the Imjin River in the American sector of the front and close to Panmunjom where the Military Armistice Commission meets in the demilitarized zone.

The U.N. Command said the attack occurred at 3:15 a.m. President Johnson gave no indication that he was aware of it

In Alaska After Flight From Seoul

Johnson Promises Firm Anti-Red Asian Policy

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—President Johnson returned to American soil Tuesday night and promised that the United States will take a firm anti-Communist stand in Asia—"and you can put it in your pipe and smoke it."

Asks Full Report

He made the statement in reference to the ambush of six American soldiers and a South Korean by North Korean troops in Korea eight hours before Johnson left Seoul for the United States. The President was told about the incident as he boarded the plane in Seoul.

In Anchorage, the traveling White House said the President asked for a complete report of the incident from the commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea.

Returning from a seven-nation tour, Johnson was greeted by several thousand residents of Alaska's largest city in a steady, but gentle, midnight rain.

Taking Stand

The President told welcomers at Elmendorf Air Force Base, four miles from town, that United States is taking a stand in Asia—and Viet Nam—and "that stand is going to come true."

Although the dampened late-hour crowd was the smallest of his 31,000-mile journey around the Pacific, the President took his auto microphone in hand to urge repeatedly that his greeters "move back a yard there" and let the motorcade proceed.

Viet Nam was the theme of his impromptu speech in Anchorage, too. He said the United States won't permit the Communists to take over South Viet Nam—that if they succeeded there, "they might be in Dutch Harbor tomorrow."

The President said he did not believe in ignoring a fire "until it gets to your front yard."

Peace Talk Aim

He emphasized again that his aim to get Communist North Viet Nam to the negotiating table, "and the sooner they realize it, the better they'll be."

Johnson landed in Alaska's biggest city shortly before midnight, following a nonstop flight from the South Korean capital of Seoul.

PVT. THOMAS C. NEWKIRK

Parents Receive State Cross; Son Killed Sept. 10

Parents of a Saugerties soldier who gave his life for the protection of comrades last September in Viet Nam, on Tuesday were presented with the New York State Conspicuous Service Cross.

In Viet Since June

The presentation was made on behalf of the governor and the people of the State of New York by Charles L. Culver, State Veteran's Counselor, Division of Veteran Affairs, State of New York, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Newkirk of 15 Underwood Street, Saugerties.

PFC Thomas Clifton Newkirk, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk was killed in action September 10, 1966 as a result of a gunshot wound in the chest received in hostile ground action.

A member of Company B, 1st Bn, 18th Infantry, First Division, PFC Newkirk entered service Jan. 4, 1966, and commenced his tour of duty in Viet Nam June 16, 1966. Prior to enlistment he had attended Saugerties High School.

Awarded Bronze Star

His parents had previously been notified by commanding that he had been awarded the Bronze Star for bravery. He was fatally wounded while on a search and destroy mission with his company near Nha Be, RVN. According to a letter from Lt. Col. Warren S. Goodwin Jr., First Battalion, 18th Infantry, Newkirk ran forward to aid his fallen comrades when his company came under hostile attack. His action demonstrated a complete loyalty to his fellow comrades and a devotion to duty. For this devotion to duty and bravery he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Urge Start Of Rondout UR Housing To Test Two-Way Traffic Pattern

Proposed city purchase of uptown's Senate parking lot for $77,000 was rejected by a 7-6 Common Council vote Tuesday night, but the aldermen approved another test of two-way traffic on sections of Clinton Avenue and Pearl Streets.

Other action included approval of the "workable program" requirement affecting uptown's urban renewal program for which $6,008,646 has been earmarked, and a request for immediate action to get downtown's Rondout Gardens 135-unit housing project started was made by Alderman Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward.

See Park Map

The aldermen got their first look at a map of the proposed John F. Kennedy Park at Kingston Point estimated to cost $1,500,000 and arrived at adjournment by an 8-5 vote in the midst of a discussion as to whether approval should be given to attendance of 14 members of the City of Kingston Laboratory staff at training sessions.

Proposed sale of eight city-owned properties to the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency at a cost of some $24,000 and a bid of the Urban Transit Corp. for cancellation or reduction of its $1,500 annual franchise tax were left in committee.

Also in committee is a proposal to cite the Tenth Ward as a rehabilitation area in conjunction with local urban renewal and a proposed application to the Public Service Commission for permission to cross the West Shore Railroad tracks in the vicinity of the freight station was referred to Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy.

Crossing of the tracks, as proposed, would be in the vicinity of Susan Street and Greenkill Avenue to facilitate access and egress of the freight house area.

Astronauts Prepare For Gemini Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 12 astronauts have a full day of rehearsal today in preparation of their four-day rendezvous and space walk mission which is to conclude the Gemini program.

Their departure from the earth next Wednesday will climax a busy seven-day period during which four space rockets are to be launched from Cape Kennedy.

Start Thursday

The fireworks start Thursday with the first unmanned launching in the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory program, to be followed Sunday by a Lunar Orbiter moon shot.

An Atlas is to hurl an Agena target satellite into orbit at 2:16 p.m. (EST) next Wednesday to start the Gemini 12 doubleheader. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to start the pursuit of the Agena atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:55 p.m.

Lovell and Aldrin planned to spend much of today in their spaceship, practicing emergency procedures and key phases of the orbital trip.

At 7 a.m. (EST) Thursday the Air Force is to fire its huge Titan 3 rocket on a multiple assignment flight. The rocket first is to hurl an unmanned Gemini capsule 5,000 miles down range to a recovery zone in a test of the heat shield for the Manned man-in-space program.

Scientific Package

The Titan 3 upper stage is to pitch up and hurl a 38-foot canister into orbit with a bundle of scientific and engineering experiments. Three other satellites are to be ejected from the canister. Two are to be used in a satellite-to-satellite communications test and the third will carry a classified Air Force payload.

At 6:06 p.m. Sunday an Atlas-Agena rocket is to propel the Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft toward an orbit about the moon. The craft is to take closeup photos of nine potential astronaut landing areas.

Housewives Plan Silent Picket in Newburgh Area

A "silent picket," a plan to boycott supermarkets and chain stores beginning Monday was organized Tuesday night in Newburgh in the growing nationwide price protest movement.

The Associated Press report today that about 25 housewives met in Newburgh and plan to boycott markets and chain stores beginning Monday unless prices are cut 20 per cent by then.

May Be Extended

An organizer, Mrs. Thomas Popowick of Cornwall, said they intend to carry the boycott into the Christmas season, if necessary.

Elsewhere in the state very little has escaped the housewife's gimlet eye including the high price of fancy cereals or a legal point in supermarket promotions, the AP reported.

Mrs. Armand P. Herreras announced plans in Williamsville, N.Y., for an indefinite boycott against what she called fancy cereals — sugar-coated or specially shaped — until the "price comes down."

Mrs. Herreras, one of the organizers of the "Housewives For Lower Food Prices" in the Buffalo suburb, also said the group would begin today a one-week boycott of area supermarkets offering "anything free as promotional gimmicks."

Hit at Quality

In nearby Lackawanna, the "Community Housewives Against High Prices" announced it would protest not only promotional games, trading stamps and prices, but also the quality of meat, poultry and vegetables.

The "We've Had It Club" members in Atlanta, Ga., called on State Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton to investigate supermarket games and sweepstakes.

Mrs. Bobby Tucker, spokesman for the group, reported Bolton's office said the probe would probably be conducted.

The group concentrated on getting out more pickets next weekend. "If they thought last week was big, wait'll they see it this week," Mrs. Tucker said.

Some 400 leaders in the Atlanta movement were to meet tonight to consider lifting the boycott on one chain — A&P. Mrs. Tucker said a study showed its prices about 15 per cent less than other chains.

Sneak Attacks

In Warwick, R.I., a group of women has decided on a series of "sneak attacks." They refused to name the stores or chains targeted for pickets after holding a strategy meeting Tuesday night.

They said they wanted the element of surprise. The same group went to picket an Almac store last Saturday and found the manager waiting with coffee, doughnuts and soft drinks beneath a banner reading "Welcome Inflation Fighters."

Globe, Ariz., housewives are joining the movement to protest that prices in their city are higher than those in Phoenix, 90 miles away.

"In Phoenix, I can get three cans of baby food for 23 cents," Peggy Lehman said. "Here the same three cans cost 33 cents."

Fire Destroys House

An early morning fire today destroyed an unoccupied frame house on Lucas Avenue Extension owned by George Bockelman. Binnewater firefighters in command of Chief Roland Drolet responded to an alarm at about 1 a. m. The fire was reported by a teacher in the area who discovered the blaze. Firemen were at the scene more than five hours. The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined. Volunteer William Houghtaling received an injury of the foot when he reportedly stepped on a nail. Another fireman, not identified, also was slightly injured, it was reported.

Pass Rosendale School Building Site 500 to 181

Purchase of a 35-acre tract of land on Lucas Turnpike near the Cottekill intersection, Town of Rosendale, as a site for a new elementary school in the Rondout Valley School District was approved Tuesday by a 500 to 181 vote.

Members of the Board of Education immediately expressed their appreciation to the district voters for approving the proposal which will provide the acreage needed in the district for expansion of school facilities.

The Ballard property costs were estimated at $28,000.

The Lucas Turnpike property was one of two previously considered as a site for the school. A tract of land on the Joppenbergh Mountain Road was rejected earlier because it would be too costly to develop and school district officials felt it would present a hazard to children, either traveling to and from the schools on bus or on foot.

The school board contended that approval of the proposition yesterday would provide the district with the needed land for present and future requirements. They said need for long-range planning had been demonstrated many times in the past.

Expect 400,000 Will Be In Viet by Early 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources predict U.S. manpower in South Viet Nam will surge to 382,000 by the end of December and move past the 400,000 mark in January.

All But Definite

Plans for this expansion from the 336,000 troops now in the Southeast Asian country are considered all but definite.

Beyond early 1967, however, the view is less clear and the Pentagon is in the process of calculating what it believes future military needs will be.

Sources said latest additions to the war will likely be elements of the 9th Infantry Division which was activated last year and has been training for duty since January.

The 9th, with a strength of about 17,000, is virtually combat ready. In addition to it, a number of support-type units with thousands of troops have been tapped for duty.

When and where the infantry division will deploy is secret for security reasons. There have been reports it would be sent to South Viet Nam's rice-rich delta region, now defended largely by South Vietnamese troops.

Pentagon at Cross Roads

Military officials say the Pentagon is at a crossroads in mapping out the course of the war beyond early 1967. One reason: This is budget-planning time, a period when the services lay out their monetary needs.

Moreover, the Saigon command has recommended a buildup to at least a half-million men, while at home Congressional predictions on the required forces have gone as high as 600,000.

And at least one ranking military officer believes 750,000 men will be needed to overcome the Communists both on the field and in the hamlets where the so-called "other war" for the support of the Vietnamese is being waged.

Aides of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said, however, he has no intention of recommending an expansion of this magnitude under present conditions.

The armed forces already have exceeded force levels planned for mid-1967 by a full year but spokesmen for the services say they cannot state what future increases might be.

Charge County Pair With Drug, Needles

Charged with illegal possession of heroin and hypodermic needles, two men were taken into custody at 4:40 a. m. today after they left the State Thruway exit at the New Paltz interchange, according to Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman of the Kingston State Police detail.

Three Others Released

The men were booked as Robert Leonard Almquist, 24, Clintondale, and Michael John Amato, 27, Highland. Three other men were questioned and released.

The apprehension of the two men came as the result of close vigilance and continuance of investigation of narcotics operations known as the United Narcotics Control by Law Enforcement, generally referred to as UNCLE.

The investigation was launched some time ago by the offices of District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Sheriff William B. Martin and the State Narcotics Bureau.

Referred to Jury

Investigator Lisman who directed the arrests this morning, said Almquist and Amato were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz.

Almquist waived preliminary examination and the case was referred to the grand jury for further investigation. He was committed to the county jail. Amato requested a preliminary hearing which was set for Friday, Nov. 4 at 7 p. m. before Judge Schneider.

Amato was committed to jail in lieu of $5,000 bail.

Lisman said the men were in possession of eight decks of heroin when they were taken into custody. They also had hypodermic needles, authorities said.

Authorities noted that UNCLE investigation will be continued through the cooperation of all police agencies.

Skies Lift, U.S. Planes Increase Raids in North

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Clearing skies let American war planes increase their punches against North Viet Nam Tuesday and ground action in the south also picked up steam. Two major operations killed 56 enemy soldiers, some of them within eight miles of Saigon.

Hit Hanoi, Port Areas

U.S. pilots flew 122 missions against targets near Hanoi, Haiphong and in the southern panhandle of the Communist north as clouds rolled back for the first time in several days.

The bombs fell on rail lines, antiaircraft sites, storage and staging areas, and a surface-to-air missile site. The attacks were almost double the number flown during the recent days of bad weather.

In the south, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division suffered moderately casualties—meaning it was hard hit—as it took the lead in ground fighting. The helicopter-borne troops reported 37 confirmed enemy dead in almost 24 hours of hard mountain fighting.

The 1st Cavalry battle was about 295 miles northeast of Saigon. Much closer to the capital —sometimes within 8 or 10 miles—troops of the U.S. 1st

Survey Indicates Wide Reaction to Tour and Manila

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

World reaction to President Johnson's trip and the Manila conference runs the gamut from optimism through doubt to pessimism.

This is evident from an Associated Press survey of capitals not on the Johnson itinerary, and from a cross-section of opinion at the United Nations.

Termed Successful

There Frank Aiken, foreign minister of Ireland, told a reporter: "I would say it appears to have been a very successful trip for the President."

As for the prospects for improvement in the Southeast Asia situation, Aiken said "the trip has provided a chance for the ministers to coordinate their views."

At the other end of the opinion scale, Tanzanian Ambassador J. W. Malecela observed: "As far as clearing the path to peace, the trip has accomplished nothing."

This African delegate added: "The communique issued in Manila means very little. What concerns us now is not what is going to happen after the fighting stops but how to stop the fighting."

Seen as No Help

Ambassador Jose Pinera of Chile said. "I don't think it had any direct contribution to peace. I don't think President Johnson had that idea in mind. It was an effort of countries participating in Viet Nam to close ranks.

Escorted by Police

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — George P. Mahoney, the Democratic candidate for governor, was escorted by state police as he campaigned in southern Maryland Tuesday night after receiving six threatening telephone calls, campaign aides said.

Mahoney's car was flanked by state patrol cars and his private vehicle was driven by a personal bodyguard.

Contrast Heat Of West Coast to Cold Midsection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Searing heat which spawned and helped spread man-killing brush fires in Southern California contrasted today with a snow-laced surge of arctic air over much of the nation's middle and eastern regions.

Temperatures which climbed to 101 Tuesday at the Los Angeles International Airport and dropped near zero in North Dakota early today underlined the dramatic split character of the nation's climate.

The hottest November day in history brought death to 10 firefighters who were overtaken Tuesday by a sheet of flame in a 2,100-acre brush blaze in Los Angeles County. Today was another scorcher in Southern California. Those killed were among 25 caught in a firestorm swept along by turbulent wind on a steep, rocky ridge near Pacoima Reservoir.

The cold front dropped 13 inches of snow at Hurley, Wis., and spread wintertime temperatures in the Plains and Midwest.

10 Firefighters Perish On Coast, Nine Critical

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — A blast of flames sweeping up a steep hillside snuffed out the lives of 10 firefighters in a crew of 25 battling one of four brush fires in Angeles National Forest.

The men were veterans, known as El Cariso Hotshots from Riverside County who had specialized in combatting the hottest of forest fires in Montana, Idaho, California and Oregon.

But they lost Tuesday to that unpredictable quality of all fires —the wind behind them that kicked up before they could escape.

"It's something every firefighter thinks about—a sudden gust of wind," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Don Porter in reporting the death toll of a blaze that swept 2,100 acres.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Nine of the 15 survivors in the crew were in critical condition at the Los Angeles County General Hospital's Burn Center.

Suppression leaders said the fire was 90 per cent contained early today.

Of the other two fires, one on Camp Pendleton Marine Corps reservation in San Diego County swept 1,900 acres. In Ventura County, a 300-acre blaze burned inland from U.S. Highway 101 through an oil tank farm without damaging structures. In the Santa Susana Mountains west of the Angeles crest fire, two blazes scorched more than 150 acres.

The inferno of flame coursing through Pacoima Canyon in the Angeles crest fire was touched off by a downed power line. Hot blasts of dry desert air—a storm known locally as the Santa Ana—poured over the moun-

3 Are Killed, 19 Hurt by Copter Blade on Carrier

Twenty-two men were cut down Tuesday by pieces of the 27-foot aluminum blade, some of them more than 100 yards from the crash site. Three men were killed and 19 injured, one critically.

One of the dead was a civilian employe, Manning McCutchen 44, of Suffolk, a father of four who had come up on the flight deck to watch the helicopter take off. He was struck as he stood near the carrier's control island. The other two victims were members of the Guadalcanal's flight deck crew.

Twelve of the injured were hospitalized, including a civilian workman struck while aboard the carrier Forrestal, berthed across the pier from the Guadalcanal at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard.

Marine Corps Maj. William L. Whelen of Virginia Beach, the helicopter pilot, and his crewman, Aviation Machinists Mate 1.C. David K. Todd of Shell Lake, Wis., were shaken up but not hurt.

Infant Boys Perish In Automobile Fire

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two infant boys died in an automobile fire Tuesday, but a passing teen-ager pulled three other children to safety.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Frankie Lee Ubeda Jr., 11 months old, and Tyrone Caldwell, 15 months.

The fire broke out after the mothers had left the five children in the car while they shopped at a nearby department store. Dave Hoffman, 18, spotted the fire and rescued three children.

Investigators said the youngsters may have been playing with the auto's cigarette lighter.

Called Illegal

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister John Vorster called the U.N. resolution on South-West Africa illegal and said Tuesday night that South Africa would continue to administer the territory.

Vorster's statement was his government's first reaction to the U.N. General Assembly's decision to end South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the territory and put it under U.N. administration. Vorster said the U.N. resolution "simply had no foundation in international law."

November Term Report 111 Cases On County Court

A criminal calendar has been prepared by District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca for the November term of County Court. There are 111 cases on the calendar which will be called at 2 p. m. on Monday, Nov. 7, at which time County Judge Raymond J. Mino will make up a ready calendar.

Heading the calendar is the first degree murder charge against Raymond G. Rickard Jr., 27, Brooklyn seaman, who is charged in the death of 2½-year old Victor Rossiello, whose body is believed to have been thrown in the Hudson River from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge in November 1964. Rickard, whose last known address was in Bedford Avenue Brooklyn, was arrested on a Presidential warrant in India where he had gone aboard a vessel as a crewman. He is in jail awaiting disposition of the case. Francis Martocci and Joseph Saccoman have been assigned as counsel.

The majority of defendants whose cases are noted on the calendar are released on bail. On the opening day of term, next Monday, defendants and their counsel are required to be in court at the calendar call. Failure to appear may result in cancellation of bail and confinement to jail.

War Criminal Dies

TOKYO (AP) — Sadao Araki, a leader of Japan's prewar militarist regime and a major World War II war criminal, died of a hemorrhage today. He was 89.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment by the international military tribunal for the Far East in 1948 but was temporarily released because of ill health in 1955. He was granted a parole in 1958.

Engineer Killed In New Jersey Rail Collision

DOVER, N.J. (AP) — Archibald M. Speer, a 67-year-old train engineer nearing retirement, was killed in his cab Tuesday by a 200-ton runaway switch-engine unit.

"He must have gone through the tortures of hell when he saw that train coming," remarked a spectator as workmen began clearing the mangled wreckage of Speer's four-car passenger train and the double switch engine.

The others aboard the commuter train — two crewmen and six passengers — were injured, none seriously. Authorities began examining the shattered engine unit today to determine why it broke loose, rolled seven miles downhill and thundered into Speer's oncoming train.

Erie - Lackawanna Railroad officials and police gave this account of the accident:

The two engines, coupled together, had been parked by a landing at the Port Morris terminal. Their engineer and conductor were not aboard when the unit began rolling.

Gaining momentum, the engines raced along the track at speeds estimated at between 50 to 85 miles an hour. They rolled through Dover before street-crossing guard gates could be lowered and at least one automobile was nearly hit.

Another Terrorist

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A terrorist on a motorbike threw a hand grenade at a police checkpoint in the Chinese section of Saigon tonight, killing two Vietnamese men and injuring four other Vietnamese, police sources said.

Japan 'Feels the Heat' Of China's A-Missile

BY COL. RAY CROMLEY
Military Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TOYKO (NEA) — "Speaking for myself, now that Communist China is developing nuclear weapons and the missiles to deliver them, I believe we in Japan must build a nuclear missile capability in order to defend our country."

Several dozen other Japanese business leaders picked at random think the same.

These men worry over Red China's nuclear capability because they're convinced that Red China is now run by irrational men who would not hesitate to use nuclear weapons if the mood hits.

Japan has the capability to build its own nuclear armament.

It is estimated that in less than 18 months, Japan could successfully produce and test nuclear devices. By the early 1970s the Japanese could turn out efficient intermediate range nuclear missiles.

Antiproliferation talks between the United States and the Soviet Union are intensely discussed in Japan.

The big question here is, of course, whether Red China would go along? Leading Japanese privately have strong doubts that the present rulers of Red China would agree to any nuclear restraints.

Before World War II in Tokyo this reporter frequently met with Dr. Nishina, then head of Japan's nuclear work. Even then, Japan had a handful of highly professional theoretical atomic scientists.

Dr. Nishina in the late 1930s showed me his small, efficient cyclotron. He told me at that time he was working closely—though at a distance—with Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, Nobel Prize winner at the University of California.

In the quarter of a century since, Japanese scientists have done excellent work in the mathematical aspects of nuclear theory.

The Japanese have turned out some efficient rocket motors. Japanese industry is moving carefully into the space rocket field in co-operation with the small but growing space program.

By next year, the Japanese expect to have a new satellite of their own.

Japan's legal experts believe they have found a way to get around the nonwar article in Japan's Constitution.

What Japan does will likely depend on the outcome of the U. S.-Soviet nuclear antiproliferation talks and Red China's willingness to join an agreement.

Lottery Arguments Basically Same as Those Posed in 1821

By EDWARD W. BATES
The Troy Times-Record

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Voters in the Nov. 8 election will have a chance to pass judgment on the wisdom of delegates to a state constitutional convention who nearly a century and a half ago forbade lotteries in New York State.

The bitter arguments of 146 years past are muted by time now. But many of them have been duted off by supporters and opponents of the proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot this year to permit a lottery.

Voted Down 98-9

In 1821, delegates to the State Constutitoonal Convention voted, 98-9, after prolonged debate to outlaw all lotteries. In February 1822 the new Constitution was adopted by the voters, 74,732 to 41,043.

Until that time, lotteries had been common in this state—and many others—as a means of financing education and other state projects, along with a host of private fund - raising programs.

There were few defenders for lotteries at the 1821 convention. Chief among them, however, were State Chancellor James Kent and Chief Justice Ambrose of State Supreme Court.

The convention noted that the Legislature originally had approved the lottery "for the purpose of founding the common school fund, which is now the most public trust of the state, and under its provisions Union, Hamilton and Columbia colleges were largely endowed."

Other public projects paid for in part by the lottery were also mentioned.

Strikingly Similar

In an argument strikingly similar to one heard today, however, delegate Ogden Edwards condemned the lottery as "the very worst mode which could be resorted to for the purpose of raising revenue, as but a very small portion of the money. . .ever found its way into the public treasury."

Said delegate William Irving Dodge:

"The evil consequences of lotteries is more extensive than we can at first imagine. It tends to demoralize the state—it sets an example which is followed by every class of society—it loosens the moral obligation of society. . .

"But this is not all. The effects of the lotteries are to deprive the family of the poor man of the pittance which his daily labor afforded them."

As for leaving the subject to the Legislature, John Duer, a delegate from Orange County, held that it "was exactly one of the subjects on which the discretion of an ordinary Legislature was not to be trusted" because "Legislatures were always under a strong temptation to resort to lotteries as a mode of raising revenues..."

Asks Ban on Racing

John Cramer of Saratoga Springs went even further—he suggested that the convention "insert a clause prohibiting horse racing and many other species of immorality."

A fellow Saratoga Springs delegate, Col. Samuel Young, moved to add such a clause.

It was voted down, and in view of Saratoga Springs' later-established fame as a racing center, one wonders what might befall a Saratoga Springs delegate who would suggest such a ban today.

Spencer candidly admitted later that he would not have supported the lottery if he "had supposed it would have drawn upon me such denunciations as were expressed."

But, the jurist said, a constituional ban of the lottery would "look a little too much as if this convention was the only wise and proper body to determine all those matters which had heretofore been left to the Legislature."

It would be hypocritical, Spencer suggested, "to suppose we have more wisdom and virtue than all those who are to come after us."

Note Comparisons

In addition, Spencer said, calling a lottery a tax upon the "vices" of the people was unfair unless the same comparison were drawn for the tax on liquor — or perhaps insurance companies should be banned "as they were in their nature a species of gambling. . ."

Kent said he was not a friend of lotteries in general but could not admit that they were criminal or immoral when authorized by laws.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For every entry he passes out to customers in a certain sales contest, the owner of a gasoline station pays two cents to his supplier.

It casts the grocer about two cents on each $1 of sales to supply you with trading stamps. Put another way, the grocer pays $2.40 for the 1,200 stamps needed to fill a certain stamp book.

Volume Is the Santa

Is it possible, then, that these costs won't, in turn, be added to your bill? The trading stamp companies and contest promoters say these gifts are really free, and that they add nothing to your bill.

Who pays then? Is there really a Santa Claus in all this?

The usual answer is that, yes, there is a Santa Claus. It is volume. Promotional schemes, so the theory goes, provide so much added volume to a store that they pay for themselves. The needed increase might be about 15 or 20 per cent.

Not only do promotional schemes provide you with a gift and put dollars in the grocer's pocket too — but in doing this they apparently bring profits also.

One sweepstakes promoter says its business has tripled in the past few years. And Sperry & Hutchinson, a trading stamp distributor, reported profits from January through September of $17,881,000.

Promotion companies offer documentation for their claims that a good sales scheme can more than offset its own cost by means of added volume. This, however, leaves unanswered a big question: Where does the volume come from?

Expense of Competitor

Generally speaking, the added sales come at the expense of a competitor. It is difficult to increase the volume of consumer food buying generally. It must come from another store's share.

The other store, however, doesn't usually permit this without a fight. It increases its advertising and promotion and perhaps takes on a stamp of its own. The quality of stamps then becomes a competitive factor.

Well aware of this, the stamp companies strive to improve the value of their products and the location, appearance and efficiency of their redemption centers.

Some of Fun Disappears

If every store had trading stamps what kind of a situation would we be in? It hasn't happened nationally yet. About 40 per cent of the nation's food dollar carries a stamp premium with it. But some neighborhoods have been nearly saturated.

When this situation is reached you can watch for one big market to pull out of the competition, announce it will reduce prices and thus use price savings rather than gifts as a promotional tool.

With surveys showing 8 of 10 households now save stamps it is difficult to determine whether it is the demand of housewives for savings or the supply of stamps that keeps people saving, pasting, clipping, redeeming.

Some promoters say housewives enjoy playing sales promotion games, but, now that food prices have risen, some of the fun and some of the playful mood seem to have disappeared.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 2, 1966

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

Some idea of the widely varied problems that confront educators may be gained by looking at the recent news. It soon becomes evident that, for diversity and complexity, these problems surpass anything in the past.

Los Angeles, with a school system second in size only to that of New York City, must cope with rising minority percentages, the addition of 1,000 children per month, the need to find 3,000 teachers each year. Texas educators continue the search for better methods of teaching non-English-speaking children in the face of a state law that designates English as the only language to be used in the schools.

Eastward in Mississippi, the Head Start program neared financial collapse, and charges of "political expediency" flew. At a meeting of college administrators in New Orleans, American schools were lambasted for lacking "able, imaginative and innovative directors." Up north in Boston, the School Committee was accused of racial juggling in reclassifying as white children of Chinese extraction.

The difficulties of teaching modern mathematics are such that, throughout the nation, educators are subscribing to a magazine devoted to this subject. Miles away across the Pacific, American technicians and teachers are trying to educate Samoan children via six television channels without over-Americanizing the pupils.

It is of vital importance that criticism of the schools be voiced. But it is essential, too, that the critics understand something of the varied and difficult problems educators face today.

IT'S ONLY A BREATHER

Enrollment in American colleges and universities has hit a new record again this fall, but the rate of increase is less than in the recent past. Thus, one may doubtless conclude that the big crisis in higher education is over. There need no longer be a straining of every available resource to provide expanded facilities to match the rising tide of enrollment.

But wait! The same source that reports this year's freshman enrollment down predicts that it will soon be going up again. The source is a highly reliable one: Dr. Garland G. Parker, University of Cincinnati dean of admissions and registrar, who each year produces an authoritive study for the journal, School and Society.

Dr. Parker makes it clear that there is no prospect for any real letup in the growing demand for higher education facilities. His preliminary report on current enrollments indicates that there are perhaps six million degree-credit students now, and he anticipates another million or so before long.

Freshman enrollment did go down slightly this year. Dr. Parker attributes that to two factors—the 1948 decline in the birth rate, and the impact of the draft. Due to the enormous freshman classes of the past two years, however, sophomores and junior enrollments are at record levels. Moreover, though freshman enrollments are expected to hold about steady over the next two years, they will begin to climb again thereafter. Commenting on this expectation, Dr. Parker observes: "Providing adequate educational opportunity for collegians in numbers surpassing the 6.5 and 7 million marks in the near future is an impelling challenge that must be met in the interest of the nation as well as the students."

That says it: What we are experiencing now is only a slight breather.

GET OUT THE RAKE, FELLOWS

The man says he feels like a traitor to all husbands who like to watch football or play golf or otherwise disport themselves on pleasant autumn days, but it is his professional duty to state the facts.

Yes, answers Henry W. Indyk of Rutgers University to frequent inquiries from housewives at this time of year, it's true that fallen leaves blanketing a lawn do much more harm than good.

The favored argument of male heads of households that leaves eventually break down into some kind of natural fertilizer is wrong, says the lawn specialist. A soggy blanket of leaves often forms a tight mat that can actually smother grass.

For that reason he favors raking leaves off the lawn several times rather than waiting until the last one has finally tumbled down.

The only compensation he offers husbands is the knowledge that leaf raking contributes to the family's physical fitness program.

And just think of the healthy grass you will be able to cut next summer.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

IS BOBBY KENNEDY WRITING HIS NAME ON WATER?

Bobby Kennedy has been concentrating on the young, the students in their late high school and early college years, as he has been going around the country to speak for Democratic candidates. According to reports from the Pacific Northwest, the news of his speeches has been getting bigger front-page billing than Lyndon Johnson's triumphal tour of Asia. Everywhere the young respond to his mop of hair, his engagingly self-deprecating humor, and his references to other Kennedys. He is a phenomenon, like Bob Dylan or a bevy of Beatles. But the kids don't vote this year, and maybe not in 1968, and before Bobby Kennedy could himself be running for President, which would be in 1972, their adolescent impulses could very well be giving way to mature second thoughts.

True enough, a Kennedy who has not yet reached middle age could easily keep the resiliency needed to shift with the years. Whatever the issues of 1972, Bobby Kennedy could remain in a position to exploit them. Even so, he may be writing his name on water in his campaign to tie the young to him in perpetuity.

The reason for saying this is that a college generation quickly scatters. One boy marries young and has three children in rapid succesion; another has three children in rapid succession; another is off to Africa; a third becomes a case-hardened marine; a fourth is absorbed into corporation life. Soon, instead of an age group, you have a bunch of different interest groups, and the enthusiasms of 18 years of age have passed out of memory.

There is nothing so mercurial as the college population. And it moves all the faster because, in any given year, a full quarter of it is graduated, giving away to an equal number of new recruits who are four years younger. It is swinging all the time, and as it swings, it changes the tune to which it swings.

Thus, only six years ago, we were at the tag end of the Silent Generation, when a majority of the kids subscribed to the doctrine of keeping what is now defined as their "cool." Rebels there were in those years, but, like the late James Dean, they were rebels without a cause." The day of the Silent Generation gave way to a time when, paradoxically, one had to join the campus Right to earn kudos as a campus radical. Organizations such as Young Americans for Fredom and the Intercollegiate Society of Individualists were hatched—and the Goldwater push was on. But this push was derailed by the emergence of civil rights as the controlling issue on the campus. The burned-out Negro churches and to take part in undergraduates were off to Mississippi, to rebuild marches. CORE and SNCC (or Snick) built up big campus affiliates, and the Students for a Democratic Society made more noise than Young Americans for Freedom had ever made.

A year ago the civil rights issue gave way to the Vietnam War issue. It became the swinging thing to denounce Lyndon Johnson and Secretary of Defense McNamara, and to picket the White house with the New Left. But this year the agitation against the Vietnam War sems to be on the wane. The students may sense that the Viet Cong isn't going to win in Southeast Asia after all, and who can keep up a white heat against a war that in all probability will soon cease to menace one's life, one's career, and even one's workday interests?

To base one's political career on the supposition that the young will stay put in their interests as they move into their voting years is a most chancy thing. Assuredly Bobby Kennedy, who is not politically naive, knows this. But a politician must keep his name and his mystic alive through years in which he has no real power outside his own territory, and the appeal to the under-voting-age young will serve Bobby Kennedy just as long as it can force Lyndon Johnson to share the front pages with him.

What is really at question is not Bobby Kennedy's behavior, but the attitude of those who, whether they are pro-Kennedy or anti-Kennedy, gape and gawp and say the Kennedys cannot be stopped in their efforts to get back into the White House. Who knows, by 1972 this country may be in the parlous position of present-day England, fighting to counteract the ravages of inflation by turning to measures of austerity. Where will the New Left be then? Echo answers, "Where?" And could a Kennedy ride an austerity program to victory?

The DOCTOR SAYS

No Specific Treatment For Viral Hepatitis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some diseases are seasonal. One that is prevalent in late fall and early winter in infectious hepatitis. Although it is most commonly seen in children between the ages of 5 and 15, it may affect persons of any age and is more severe in adults than in children.

Its incubation period is four to six weeks or about half that of the closely related serum hepatitis.

Both diseases are caused by a virus. The term viral hepatitis includes both types.

Infectious hepatitis is transmitted chiefly through drinking water but it may result from eating shellfish taken from polluted beds. Proper chlorination of the water supply will prevent this disease.

The vacationer who drinks clear, sparkling spring water which the natives "have been drinking for years and never had a sick day" may justifiably enjoy the taste but sparkle and taste are no guarantee of freedom from the hepatitis virus.

Serum hepatitis is transmitted by the blood serum of a person who has had the disease. Many persons have a mild attack that goes undiagnosed or is thought to have been a mild case of influenza. If such a person gives blood to a blood bank there is no way to detect the virus. If its presence is suspected there is no way to remove it without destroying the blood. For this reason transfusions are becoming an ever-increasing cause of hepatitis.

In the early stages of viral hepatitis the victim complains of abdominal pain, vomiting, low fever, weakness and listlessness. There is nothing about this set of symtoms to distinguish it from many other generalized infections. As the disease progresses a deep jaundice may develop. This is a great aid in the diagnosis but it is estimated that less than half of the victims ever develop jaundice.

The disease lasts from two to four weeks but in some victims full recovery of the former vigor may take four to six months. Full recovery does, however, occur with no complications and no permanent aftereffects.

Since there is no specific treatment, good nursing care and relief of symptoms are the main therapeutic goals. Bed rest in the first two weeks is essential and, if vomiting is severe, feeding by vein may be necessary. When the nausea has abated a balanced diet should be taken with the bulk of the day's intake given in the morning. It is best to avoid alcohol for three or four months after recovery.

"He Followed Me Home, Ma!"

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — "The voters are sick and tired of everything that exists in politics."

The comment came from Don Muchmore, top savings and loan executive who conducts the respected California state poll. He then added one of his favorite current lines:

Not until the very eve of the election on Nov. 8 will the Muchmore poll publish its last findings, though a number of private samplings will be taken between now and then.

His most recent published poll gave Republican governorship nominee Ronald Reagan a slim two-point lead over Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, but showed a whopping 22 per cent undecided.

Several California political figures think that percentage is absurdly high, that it probably conceals a very substantial proportion of nontalking anti-Brown voters whose chief unease is the Negro situation. This is seen, in other words, as a powerful, silent backlash vote.

One particularly sharp observer, who cannot be identified even as to party, believes this silent vote is going to come down so hard against Pat Brown that "he is going to lose, perhaps heavily."

This source has no doubt in his mind which among Muchmore's "uneasiness" factors is the dominant one:

"The beginning and the end of this election is backlash."

Events in California seem almost contrived to keep this feeling fanned high. The Hunter's Point riots in San Francisco were just beginning to recede from view when a brief, sharp disturbance broke out in Oakland and spilled big, black headlines from the Oregon line to Mexico.

A "Black Power" meeting led by the controversial SNICK leader, Stokely Carmichael, on —of all places—the Berkeley campus of the University of California is keeping the backlash spirit freshly stirred as election day nears.

Mindful of the fact that Berkeley student disturbances are themselves a cause of unease, one Democratic leader says:

"It's a double whammy."

In this man's view, even before San Francisco erupted the backlash mood, spurred first by Watts in 1965, was kept feverish by a whole summer of television pictures showing riots in Chicago, Cleveland and elsewhere. He adds:

"It shows how television affects events, by taking an issue from one area and throwing it fast into another."

The underscoring on the backlash comes from the polls and other sources. Two years ago, California voters went 58-42 for an amendment repealing the celebrated Rumford open housing law. If a similar vote were taken now, the percentage for repeal would surpass 70.

Pat Brown plainly needs a late-hour miracle. His effort to pull Reagan down has been patently inept. On top of backlash centered in Los Angeles and to a lesser degree the Big Valley, he contends with a whopping list of discontents—not least of which is a property taxpayers' mood of revolt in big southern homeowner counties.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy fired up the governor's troops. But the wide judgment is that it will take all that and more to whip out pro-Brown elements—northern California, the Negroes and Mexicans—in sufficient numbers to approach what southern California seems ready to muster against him.

Study Solution to Private School Desegregation Need

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration is studying what it can do to compel private schools to desegregate. The Internal Revenue Service is investigating, for example, whether it can revoke the tax-exempt status of those private schools in which a "preponderant" amount of money comes from tuition grants furnished by the different state or county governments to parents who do not wish their children to attend public schools.

The theory is that state action in such cases is, in effect, helping to maintain segregated schools. This is presumed to be in violation of that provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment which says that citizens must be given the "equal protection of the laws."

Study Penalties

But can the federal government penalize an educational institution because of the citizen's use of money given him for the education of his children? The First Amendment to the Constitution is supposed to permit freedom of association by individuals. Can states or the federal government deny citizens the right to send children to any private school? These are the questions being examined by government lawyers. The answers will have a significant bearing on the whole problem of how far the federal government can go in using the refusal of tax exemptions as a means of accomplishing a purpose not spelled out in legislation or in the Constitution itself.

The Supreme Court of the United States has never passed upon the specific question of whether, if a group of parents transmit to private schools the money derived from tuition grants, this in any way endangers the right of the school to be accorded a tax exemption.

A three-judge federal court did rule that a state would be violating the Fourteenth Amendment if a "preponderant" amount of money was obtained by a segregated school from state tuition grants. But this is not final, and the legal meaning of "preponderant" is hard to determine. It is as vague as the word congress used when it prohibited tax-exempt organizations from delving "substantially" in lobbying or political activities.

In recent years, there has been a movement urging federal aid to parochial schools. While most parochial schools do not close their doors to children of a particular color or race, there are some religious schools which insist on enrolling only students from a certain sect. The federal government began after World War II what is known as the "GI Bill of Rights." Tuition payments were made directly to schools and colleges to help veterans complete their education. In many instances the money went to support institutions which taught religion. An ex-serviceman could study for the ministry if he liked, and federal funds would be available for that purpose.

Subsidy Cited

It might be argued that, strictly speaking, this is a government subsidy for religious activity. But the answer usually made is that the individual exercises his "freedom of choice." This may be asserted similarly with respect to the parents of children attending private schools — they, too, are entitled to the same freedom.

The real issue for the courts to decide—if the Internal Revenue Service does forbid "preponderant" donations to a segregated school—will be whether the state is a party to the discrimination or is merely giving "equal protection of the laws" to any citizen who cannot get for his children in a public school the kind of education he wants and who prefers instead a private school which happens to be segregated by reason of color or race or religion.

If, moreover, the removal of tax exemptions comes into use as a means of achieveing a legislative objective, perhaps the Federal Corrupt Practices Act—which forbids unions from making contributions to political campaigns to elect a president and members of congress—could be enforced that way. The existing law defines "contributions" as "something of value," and there are many individuals whose salaries are being paid by labor unions and who donate a "substantial" part of their time to political activity and the supervision of fund-raising organizations.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Everyone should spend at least 30 minutes a day day-dreaming. Let the mind wander. Unsnap the leash and let it go. In school, I got barely passing marks because I was busy sailing great ships to far-away ports. The other children were busy deciphering the mysteries of fractions and the natural resources of Tibet while I fought desert tribesmen and rescued maidens from a fate worse than school.

That was 45 years ago. Last Sunday I was still at it aboard Away We Go. We were 14 miles east of Haulver Cut, trolling northward at five knots. The sky was powder blue, a canopy that enveloped the royal blue sea. The 35-foot boat rose and fell slowly, gargling the throat of its exhausts with salt water.

The radio was enunciating the sweet sad notes of Lara's Theme, from Dr. Zhivago. My brother John was aft, asking why the seaweed is always on his side of the boat. Frank Sacchetti watched the skipping balao draped from the outriggers and succumbed to his own bait—a 15-inch Italian sandwich that, had it been a little bigger, could have devoured him.

The sun was high and hot. A quarter moon was in the east, as vague as mist. A timid breeze scrubbed the deck and the snapping pennants. Carefully, I took the muzzle off my mind, sitting on the flying bridge, and let it roam. It wasn't necessary to sail the boat because the sea was empty, except for a far-off tanker trying to write its initials in smoke on the horizon.

I dreamed of many things—all of them pleasant. Vaguely, I saw a school of porpoise race for the bows, and appear to scratch their backs on the keel. They leaped glistening from the blue sea, grinned from gill to gill. I could not be aroused. The hot sun and the growl of the Gray-Marines paralyzed the will to concentrate.

I was back in school, a chunky head with shiny black hair. This time I made the baseball team and hit a home run. At a party, I danced with Helen Alcott and Mary Daniels, the best lookers in the class. They admitted that they had been wrong about my dancing: I Charlestoned so well that they thought I should be on the stage.

As an office boy for Lehman Brothers, Wall St., bankers, I figured a system for beating the market. It was fool-proof and Robert Lehman called me into his sanctum to offer me a cigar and a partnership. Naturally, I spurned both because I was only a boy.

My father, who had always been critical of my writing, stopped in my bedroom with a manuscript I had whipped up in an idle hour and murmured: "This is a masterpiece." When I grew up, there was a host of beautiful women—mostly movie stars—who entreated me to marry them, but I told them they would have to settle for John Gilbert or Spencer Tracy, because my heart belonged to a mopic blonde who saw me as 6 feet 2, instead of my true 5 feet 7.

Steinmetz, the hunch-back wizard, discussed electricity with me and I gave him a whole new philosophy. Einstein was present, but we told him to listen only, not to interrupt. John Steinbeck, America's most enduring writer, thanked me for giving him the idea for Grapes of Wrath, but I said: "Por nada," and he said it would make a great title for his next book.

The myopic blonde married me, and we had a beautiful home on the edge of the sea. Whenever my Lincoln became dusty, I turned it in for a new one. The brightest conversationalists came to our soirees, and we ate and drank all night long and said witty things that became scenes in my books.

We had an automatic escalator of children. There must have been a dozen, and the house was full of happy sounds all day. We had a little money in the bank, and at night we sat in a swing on the porch, facing the sea and holding hands and growing a bit older. It was a slow, sweet ageing, and we knew it was upon us when the old songs saddened us.

Editors wrote notes saying: "You're the only man who can write entertaininly about nothing at all." At golf, I hit a straight ball and chipped crisply to the green. My wife said that I was the most romantic man in the world, and someone kept shouting: "No, no. Hey, stupid!"

I came out of my cocoon of thoughts and heard my brother screaming. He was working hard on a line that stretched far behind the boat. A giant silvery and blue creature broke the sunny pieces-of-eight on the surface, and snapped the leader and swam away.

My brother looked at Frank Sacchetti and shook his head. "This is the only hit I've had all day. I'm yelling my head off for Captain Hornblower to cut the speed and he's off somewhere, probably with a bunch of dames." He wiped the perspiration with a towel. "Ah, what's the use," he moaned. "He was slow in school, too." . . .

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

School No. 3 is in the hands of the destroyers, and the date is Oct. 25, 1966. It was at Chambers and St. Mary's. Going back to 1910, Principal Patrick H. Cullen and his staff of teachers were: Margaret Larkin, Annie Thompson, Loretto E. Deichelmann, Margaret W. O'Connor, Mary Halloran, Margaret Bunting, Alice Snyder, Marion C. Buchanan, Marguerite E. Fitzgerald and Niemont Hewitt. The immigration from the old country brought many children to this school. They often spoke the language of their parent's European countries at home, or understood it and answered in English. Many were very good students and in time to come became the professional men and women of the city.

In 1916, some 50 years ago, School No. 3 which had been built in 1868 at the cost of $7,000 and if left intact could have stood another two years to live out its life of a century. The structure in spite of the vandalism now prevalent in our new Great Society had still its brick walls, and blue stone window sills and stone foundation. It stood alone and forlorn, as though it never housed the many children, who trimmed the Christmas trees with strings of popcorn, and colored paper trimmings. It was the days of discipline, and a child or parent could not and would not raise objection to any punishment given to a child in school. In fact, many pupils would keep it a secret if they were punished in school for fear their parents would punish them again.

The windows were cean, now they are broken. The blackboards were cleaned with chalk erasers. It was a privilege to clean the blackboard for the teacher in those days. Today those thick real slate blackboards are inpieces not by time or weather,but by vandals. We now have castle schools and progressive education.

No doubt many readers, who went to School No. 3 remember Patrick H. Cullen who was a principal there a long time. He also taught arithemtic in the upper classes. His teachers in 1916 were: Annie Thompson, Helen G. Terwilliger, Sadie B. Boyd, Nellie Hannon, Catherine A. Murray, Frances J. Deichelmann, Mollie B. Cullen, Bessie O'Brien, Rae Lehner and Esther M. Delaney. Grace L. White used to come in as superintendent of drawing. Everyone remembers, no doubt, Maragaret M. Mulligan the writing teacher. In fact, she played a very important part in our life, as she taught the Palmer Method and insisted that we do the exercises just so, and had to hold our wrist and pen just so, even in the upper grades. This Palmer Method, to my way of thinking made all our writing alike, instead of allowing us to form our letters with our own characteristics, which is very important when signing papers or checks. What good is a signature, if everyone's signature is the same. It is like finger-printing. I remember, that somehow she did not let us cross a t if it was the last letter in a word. My father found this very objectionable as he felt all i's should be dotted properly, and the t's crossed. "Swing a big round O,-2-3-4" was a phrase Miss Mulligan used to say as she walked around the room, teaching writing.

School No. 3 was nearly at the top of Chambers Street and in winter the hill became a glare of ice, but we walked it. At the bottom of the hill was a candy store, run by the Abrahams family at 86 Chambers Street. There was a box to stand on for the little kids to see the wonderful penny candy, so we could get "One of these and one of those." We were all in a hurry and wanted to get waited on first. The candy was in a show-case and were only handled by the the owners.

Boy Dragged to Death

MEEKER, Colo. (AP) — Nine-year-old Timothy Alan Ray was dragged to death by a donkey he lassoed on the Bar L V Ranch near this western Colorado town.

Authorities said the donkey was a pet of Timothy and his sister, Sharry, 6, but the animal apparently became frightened Monday when the lasso settled around its neck. Timothy had the other end of the lasso tied around his waist.

Stratton Looks Quite Bit More Conservative Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — His hopes for statewide office in New York long since gone, Democratic Rep. Samuel S. Stratton appears to be taking on some of the conservative coloration of his home district.

Two politically minded organizations on opposite sides of most key issues showed in evaluations of 1966 congressional votes that Stratton was rising on a conservative scale and falling off on a liberal one.

Americans for Constitutional Action, representing the conservative viewpoint, gave Stratton a rating of 48 per cent, highest of any New York State Democrat and higher than four Republicans in the delegation.

Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), advocate of liberal causes, marked Stratton at 38 per cent, with Rep. Otis Pike accorded the same score.

They were the only two Democrats below 70 per cent on the ADA scale. The four Republicans who fared poorly in the conservative ratings were ahead of Stratton when judged from the liberal viewpoint.

Previously, Stratton had ranked much lower on the ratings of Americans for Constitutional Action and much higher on those of the ADA.

He's not concerned. He pointed out in a report to voters back home — largely Republican — that the conservative evaluation had ranked him relatively high.

Stratton first was elected to Congress in 1958 in a surprising victory in a district that long had been represented by conservative Republicans.

The achievement brought his name into speculation as a prime prospect for future statewide office.

He did try to move up. He went after the Democratic nomination for governor in 1962 and for U.S. Senator in 1964, failing both times.

RFK Ended Hope

Any chance he had of winning the Senate nomination vanished when Robert F. Kennedy moved into the state with sufficient, pre-arranged support to become the party choice.

While Stratton's own party rejected his efforts to advance, Republicans had no success in dislodging Stratton from the House, either at the polls or in a reapportionment maneuver.

Stratton's course now seems aimed at assuring his re-election and acquiring the seniority needed to join the ranks of the veteran Democrats who wield the power in the House.

He is ninth in seniority on the 26-member Armed Service Committee and would move up as older members leave Congress.

While he ranks behind Republicans in the conservative ratings, Stratton's Democratic label does not push him too far from the views of his district, which sprawls 120 miles across the center of Upstate epublicanism.

He lost favor with the ADA by voting against the rent-supplement program to subsidize low-income families in private, middle - income housing, by supporting amendments to exempt farm workers and retail-store clerks from minimum wage laws, by backing the House Committee on Un-American Activities and supporting a move to cut foreign aid.

The liberals also faulted him for supporting what the ADA called an effort to obtain a vote of no confidence in the Office of Economic Opportunity, the war-on-poverty agency.

Both Sides Take Wait-See Stand On Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Both sides adopted a "wait and see" attitude today in the strike by the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) against Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Company and union spokesman said the next move would be up to federal mediators in returning the parties to the bargaining table in an effort to agree on a national labor contract. However, no negotiations were scheduled.

Idles About 3,500

The union struck in scattered locations across the country at midnight Monday when its contract expired. Work stoppages were reported at 19 Westinghouse locations, idling about 3,500 IBEW workers, according to a company estimate.

A company spokesman said the effects of the strike were minimal and added that the number of workers affected amounted to about 2.5 per cent of its total work force.

The IBEW represents 14,000 Westinghouse employes, but is negotiating nationally only for about 80 workers, mostly in small manufacturing and service facilities.

Plants where the IBEW's remaining workers are employed negotiate contracts locally.

Mediators made no effort Tuesday to bring the parties back into bargaining on unresolved issues. These include an IBEW demand for a national agreement for all its members as well as other noneconomic issues such as layoff benefits and geographic wage differentials.

Says Terms Same

Westinghouse said it proposed the same terms to the IBEW that were agreed to last month by negotiators for the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions and the independent United Electrical Workers.

The IBEW said the company proposals offered to it were less than the three-year wage and fringe benefits package accepted by the other three, estimated at a four per cent increase annually by the company and 50 cents an hour by the unions.

Of the 19 Westinghouse plants struck by the IBEW, the largest were at Youngwood, Pa., with 1,600 employes idled; Cheswick, Pa., atomic fuel plant, 4 workers; Richmond, Ky., 755; Upper Sandusky, Ohio, 335, and Dover, N.J., with 310 IBEW workers.

The Long Usage

The eagle has been used as a national symbol since the time of Alexander the Great, supposedly because the eagle typifies freedom, grandeur, vigilance and courage.

China's Great Wall was completed in the 200's B. C.

Two Persons Hurt In Rt. 209 Crash

Two persons were slightly injured at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday as the result of a two-car collision on Route 299 about two-tenths of a mile west of the State Thruway interchange.

State Poilce Sergeant Edward Whalen of Highland said the cars were driven by Frank Randazzo, 20, of Brooklyn, and Joseph Sorrentino, 53, of Allentown, Pa. Randazzo complained of soreness of the left arm. Vivian Cohn 20, of New Paltz, complained of a neck pain.

Artists Open College Exhibit

An exhibition of paintings and sculpture of Woodstock artists opened at Ulster County Community College Oct. 30 and continues to Nov. 23.

The Visual Arts Program of the college invites community residents and students to view this outstanding exhibition in Gallery Hall on the third floor of the college campus at 214 West Chestnut Street from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Fridays.

Through the years, Woodstock has grown in importance as an art center with an ardent social and creative life. Many prominent and serious painters make their homes in this area.

The exhibition consists of the works of the professional artists of Woodstock. The paintings and sculpture represent great diversity and variety of artistic expression from traditional realism to avant-grade art of abstraction.

The artists represented range in fame and experience from Doris Lee, Arnold Blanch, Ethel Magafan to Fletcher Martin, Rolland Crampton and Anton Refregier.

Some of the other sculptors and painters represented are Frank Alexander, Robert Angelock, Sidney Laufman, Walter Plate, Frances Stein, Arthur Zaidenburg, Jean Young, Hannah Small, Eugene Ludins, Tom Penning, Julio DeDiego, Jane Jones, James Turnbull, Marion Greenwood, Carolyn Haberlin, Cecile Forman, Jane Axel and Tom Reilly.

The paintings and sculpture included in the exhibition were loaned by the artists and all works are available for purchase.

The exhibition was organized by the Woodstock sculptor, Tom Penning and Professor Ruth Muroff, coordinator of the arts at the Community College.

In conjunction with the exhibition, a lecture is planned for Friday, Nov. 18 at 7 p. m. at the college. The lecturer will be Julio deDiego, the internationally famed and respected artist who now resides in Woodstock. His topic will be The Life of an Artist, and he also will discuss with slides the Black Period of Goya as seen from his works in the Prada Museum, Spain.

Makes Own Change

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — When a service station attendant refused to cash a check for Clarence Finch Lyman, police said Lyman then:

Ripped the cash register from a shelf, short-circuiting the electrical system and plunging the filling station into darkness, and ran off with the register containing $202.

City Woman's Determination Pits Dolls Against Disease

By R. DEAN WILSON
Freeman Staff Writer

The one-room world of Mrs. Blanche Rodriquez centers around two crutches, a wheelchair—and well over 100 friends.

Some of these friends — like one young lad in gray flannel suit and his equally young girl friend, clad in bright patterned dress and gay red felt hat —were at Mrs. Rodriquez Green Street address when this Freeman reporter called.

Both were dolls.

Alert and Cheerful

Mrs. Rodriquez — alert and cheerful with a shock of snowy white hair and 75 years behind her—makes the dolls as a hobby, and sells them to boost her income. As she explains: "It takes a lot of money to get by these days."

Mrs. Rodriquez suffers from an a cute case of pernacious anemia and has for some 20 years. She began her hobby over three years ago, when the disease softened the bones of her back, causing curvature of the spine and crushing three vertebrae.

"I can't get around much myself," she expliained. "The only time I do get out was like today, when a friend of mine pushed me in my wheelchair."

But for a once-active woman such as Mrs. Rodriquez sudden inactivity was not the kind of thing one just accepts.

"I can't see just sitting around moaning about my fate," she declared with a determined nod. "That's why I decided to find something to do with myself."

Worked as Seamstress

The hobby she turned to, despite its novelty, was not unpredictable. As Mrs. Rodriquez explained, "I once worked as a seamstress—oh, that must be 30 years or more ago—and ever since I was a little girl I've liked dressing dolls."

Seated in a straight-backed chair as she talked, Mrs. Rodriquez pointed from one side of the room to the other, indicating first the boy-and-girl dolls in the rocking chair, then a glass-fronted cabinet with shelves full of smaller, fragile, girl dolls in their hooped and billowing ball gowns—waiting like debutantes for their late-arriving escorts.

"I paint their faces too," Mrs. Rodriquez said, waving vaguely toward the shelves filled with dolls. "I paint them with water colors," she added, shrugging off a comment on the realism.

As a native of Valantine, Kans., Mrs. Rodriquez has moved quite a distance east to practice her hobby.

Lived in Ashokan

"I came here many years ago," she added: "You know, Ben was from Kingston and we lived here for a while before moving to Ashokan.

"I moved back to Kingston after I lost Ben."

We were curious about advertising, wondering how Mrs. Rodriquez sold so many of the dolls—despite the fact they are both of high quality and low cost—without ads.

"No," she laughed, with a shake of her head, "I don't take out any ads anywhere. Only by word-of-mouth and by that little sign in my window.

"I guess it's just that people like having a handmade doll and, when others ask about it, they find out about me."

County Is Rated 14th in State on Per Capita Levy

ALBANY — Real property taxes levied by New York's 57 Upstate counties reach a new high in 1966 — $19 million more than in 1965.

The 1966 total levied by the boards of supervisors for counties outside New York City was $350.3 million, compared with $331.3 million in 1965.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization, said real property taxes paid for 40.3 per cent of the $869.4 million spending authorized for operations of county governments in 1966.

The real property tax levies or "net budgets" are arrived at in each county by deducting estimated revenues from the gross amount of budgeted spending for county purposes, the Survey said. Those estimated revenues are state aid, federal aid, departmental charges and fees, surpluses of previous years, and in several counties, non-property taxes. These sources provided 59.7 per cent of the revenue needed to pay for county spending in 1966.

Ulster County was one of the 30 Upstate counties which increased real property taxes from 1965 to 1966. The net budget amount levied on real property in Ulster County for 1966 was $4,520,052, an increase of $247,184. Ulster ranked 14th in per capita tax levy. Ulster County's gross budget was $10,494,109, an increase of $328,593 from last year.

Tentative budgets for 1967 under preparation, must be filed with boards of supervisors by November 15. Boards may change tentative budgets, but before final adoption, copies of the proposed budgets as changed must be made available at the offices of the clerks of the boards of supervisors and public hearings must be held.

The United Nations

Editor, The Freeman:

Candidates meetings can be very enlightening and appalling. On the one hand the public is informed and on the other hand it is deceived by unsubstantioned statements.

I refer to one made by a member of the Conservative Party that "Apportionment is a mandate to us by the United Nations."

One notion—one vote at the UN means each nation has equal voice regardless of size of country or numbers of people.

This article in the UN Charter resembles our Constitution, and at the time of our founding fathers' deliberations one of the small states reserved its intent to join the Union until assurances were given that its vote would equal to that of a larger state.

As for the meeting at San Francisco, Americans were there too. Weighted voting was considered (if by population India would be favored and France penalized; if by ability to pay United States would hold most of the bills and if by territorial size the U.S.S.R. would have greater power) and as yet there is no way better than the one nation-one vote rule.

I would hope that the critics of the UN would come up with some constructive suggestions as well as concrete information. Obviously they would rather infer that Americans are being robbed of their sovereign rights by the United Nations when all the time it operates by consent and consensus, not by force or coercion.

It is also plain that those who fear this changing world call for absolute control (theirs) and show a deep distrust for self-government.

Isn't this really un-American, to be so lacking in trust of one's fellow citizens? and isn't this also against the tradition of conservatism and individualism? (which acknowledges our differences.)

The only alternative to total ideology is the United Nations, which is working in a very human way to make the world safe for diversity (yours). The U. N. includes the U. S. — a superpower but not super-human people. We might recall our own beginnings and be patient. We might try even being hopeful. And we might be mindful of three realities of our world in this election year. ½ of the world's children are hungry, ⅔ of the world's people are colored, and 894,000,000 of the world's citizens are Chinese (unrepresented in the United Nations) and those were yesterday's statistics.

WHAT IS THE NEW YORK STATE

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION?

"The Constitutional Convention is on the ballot this election day.

"This unique office will be empowered to completely overhaul our outdated and often wasteful State government. For the future of our State, it is the most important office on the ballot this year.

"I believe that every elected Delegate must pledge himself to challenge every existing government office and offer the many improvements needed. I will do this.

"The work of this Convention will affect you from taxation to education to conservation. It is too important to be voted on without considering the issues. I hope you will take the time both for yourself and your children to study these issues. On election day you will know where I stand."

Take Time Now Read Handbook About Medicare

"Don't wait until you get sick. Take time now to read Your Medicare Handbook."

This is the advice George J. Habernig, manager of the social security office in Kingston has for all medicare beneficiaries. Habernig stated that the Medicare Handbook explains how the two health insurance programs work and tells what services are covered and how payments will be made. It also contains a copy of the simple form to be used in requesting payment of doctor's bills under the medical insurance program.

The Handbook includes a listing of all the insurance organizations that will be handling medical insurance claims, so beneficiaries can quickly see where claims for payment of doctor bills, home health services and other services included in the supplementary plan should be sent.

Your Medicare Handbook is designed as a ready source of information and guidance for each person covered by medicare. Along with the red, white, and blue health insurance identification cards, it is the key to medicare protection. Habernig stated that anyone having any questions about his rights under medicare should get in touch with the social security office located at 57 Albany Avenue.

It's a fact: All three competitive, automatic fuels are equally clean! You can't blame the dust and grease that accumulate on light bulbs on electricity any more than you can blame smudges and streaks over gas registers on that fuel, in a properly-adjusted system. All three fuels burn in a completely-sealed environment.

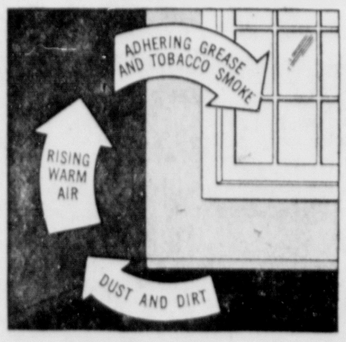

What, then, are the culprits? Minute particles of dust, dirt tracked in, cooking fumes, smoke — circulation — and degree of heat. The hotter the heating element, the greater the deposit of charred or dirty particles.

Does this mean there are no advantages to choosing one fuel over another?

Well, you could hardly sell that story to the majority of smart Hudson Valley homeowners who have chosen Oil Heat. Now could you?

SOURCE OF THE HEAT HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH HOUSEHOLD DIRT

Discoloration around registers, baseboard units or resistance elements is an accumulation of household dirt—regardless of how immaculate the housekeeper. Such impurities are present in the air in all homes. The air is warmer around the heating elements, and circulates more rapidly than surrounding air. Thus household dirt is deposited more rapidly around heated surfaces. The source of the heat has nothing to do with it!

Rocky Cautions Against O'Connor On Conservation

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller charged today that the state's pure waters and open space land acquisition programs "will not be developed by and can not be trusted to the old line political clubhouse crowd of which Frank O'Connor is a product."

The Governor asserted that since 1959 the state "has scored break-throughs in conservation and recreation that will be looked upon as landmarks in the annals of America."

Sums Up Proposals

In a statement from his campaign headquarters, Rockefeller summed up the conservation proposals made during his campaign and charged that O'Connor, his Democratic opponent, "has nothing to offer the people of New York beyond. . .woeful lack of understanding of state responsibilities and programs; proposals to do things already done or underway; and denying that decisive programs like pure water even exists.

Rockefeller said his own proposals during the campaign included "new steps to return the lakes and rivers to the people," development of a comprehensive natural resources inventory, and the acquisition and development of the Old Croton Aqueduct as a 32-mile trailway.

He said he has also requested his newly-created Commission on Preservation of Agricultura Lands to hold public forums throughout the state "to increase the awareness of all New Yorkers of the vital importance of this problem to all. . ."

In remarks for the dedication of a new wing at the Roosevelt, Long Island, Cerebral Palsy Center, the governor said that medical programs enacted during his administration "have placed New York ahead of the nation in promoting health, especially the health of our children."

As examples he cited programs providing vaccines against polio and measles, an expanded program of therapy for cerebral palsy victims, and the 22-station network of poison control centers "that can literally make a life or death difference when a child swallows a poisonous substance."

The governor's office also released a telegram sent to "a number of residents on the North Shore of Long Island who are concerned about possible changes in Route 25A near the Nassau-Suffolk County line."

He said recent suggestions for improvements in the Route 25A corridor submitted to local officials "are meant only as a basis for joint local-state discussion. . .and should cause

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column if questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I'm getting married in December. Will I be able to file a joint return for the entire year?

A—Yes. Marital status is determined as of the last day of the tax year. If you are married by that date then you are considered married for the entire year.

Q—How long do you have to own stock or some other asset to qualify for a long term capital gain?

A—More than six months.

Q—We have just sold our house at a profit. Is that taxable when we put the money into a larger home?

A—Generally, if you purchase and occupy another home within a year at a price equal to or above what you received for your old home then you will not be currently taxed on the profit made on the sale.

If, within the appropriate time period, you buy a new home at a lower price than you sold the old one for, all or part of the gain is taxed currently.

A complete discussion of this subject may be found in IRS Document 5017, "Selling Your Home," available by dropping a post card to your District Director.

Q—How about the cost of a hunting license. Is that deductible?

A—No it is not.

Q—What do you have to do to be able to claim a deduction for setting up an office in your home?

A—To establish this deduction you should be able to establish that:

1—you are required to provide your own space and facilities as a condition of your employment,

2—you regularly use part of your home for that purpose,

3—the area of your home that is so used,

4—the extent of the use, and

Exemptions to Claim

Q—I'm divorced and my wife has custody of the children. Since I still support them can I claim them as exemptions on my withholding?

—Yes you can if they qualify as your dependents. Generally, this means that you provide more than one-half of their total support for the year.

IRS Document No. 5013, "Personal Exemptions and Dependents," explains this subject in detail. It may be obtained by dropping a post card to your District director.

Q—Are employment agency fees deductible?

A—Yes, if you itemize deductions and you pay them for getting employment.

Q—I've heard that a check made out to cash or to yourself is not sufficient to establish a deductible expense. Is that right?

A—Generally speaking that is correct. To substantiate a deductible expense your records must indicate, among other things, the purpose of the expense, and to whom paid, as well as the amount.

A check made out to cash or to yourself gives no indication by itself of the nature of the expense. This kind of check must be supported by other records, such as receipts. This kind of check must be supported by other records, such as receipts, to be useful in proving any deductions you claim.

A check made out to a specific organization or person, like a charity or a doctor for example, may well be sufficient to establish that a deductible expenditure has been made.

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're dreaming of a white Christmas, Santa can take care of it for you—with no snow to shovel—for $100,000.

That's the price tag on a backyard ski slope suggested this year by Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas department store with Texas-size ideas for Christmas.

The slope is 121 feet long and 25 feet wide. It has a plastic surface that skis like snow, but there is nothing to shovel.

The ski slope is only one gift idea from the millions of Christmas catalogs now in the mails.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. sent out 12 million catalogs and Montgomery Ward & Co. 6 million.

Neiman - Marcos also offers his and her bathtubs — marble-topped, gold faucets and $4,000 a pair.

Some stores are thinking little this year. Spencer Gifts has a thumb - size radio for $1.98. Hammacher Schlemmer offers a three-inch television set—$150.

For the surfer, Ward's has a sterling silver surfer's cross (proclaiming "I am a surfer") for $1.99.

F.A.O Schwarz, New York's Fifth Avenue toy store offers some little machines to help you through the holidays — things like a diet computer (25) and a detect-a-drink, complete with balloons to see if it is safe for you to drive home ($5).

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Plastic stack-style vegetable bins are old friends of mine!

Oh, yes, they do a very fine job of holding vegetables, but that is just the beginning of their usefulness.

I have a stack of them in the baby's room to hold her powder, creams and such (in the top one) and undershirts, socks and gowns in others.

A friend of mine bought a dozen to hold socks, panties and slips for her older children. The top one is great for Scout pin, scarfs, socks and badge sash, and keeps them together from meeting to meeting.

If your daughter has mohair sweaters that "grow" on hangers and crowd drawer space, more bins will hold them nicely.

These bins come in all colors to match any room.

If you have a pink checked spread and curtains, try a white bin between two pink.

When gathering material, start out with very small stitches for ½", then switch to the gathering-length stitch.

The thread doesn't pull out when you slide the material as it might with just a knot.

If gathering on the sewing machine, you can prevent those first stitches from pulling out by sewing about ½" of reverse stitching before you start gathering stitch...

Dear Heloise:

When painting the ceiling of any room, and to avoid paint from getting on your face, cut a split long enough in a paper plate to slip your brush handle through.

The paint will fall in the plate and not in your face or on the floor.

Dear Heloise:

One use I find for leftover pastry is to cut rounds for tart shells from it.

You can freeze them flat, then when you need a quickie dessert, drop them on top of muffin cups. As soon as they thaw enough to be flexible (a few minutes) you can press them into the cups, trim and bake.

Fill them with whatever you have handy — jam, instant pudding, fruit, etc.

Dear Heloise:

My subject is electric blenders and the easy way of cleaning them.

Do you know that many of us won't use our blenders because they are so hard to clean. I was just as foolish as the rest of the women at a cooking school until our instructor gave us this simple method, which is real quick and easy:

After using, rinse the blender with clear water. Then half fill with warm water and put in three or four drops of liquid detergent. Put on the cover and be sure to hold it down firmly with the palm of your hand while you turn the switch to LOW.

Let this run for a moment or so. Empty and rinse with clear water.

Just don't put in too much detergent or run the blender on high. You will have excessive suds.

Autopsy Photos Of JFK Are Added To U.S. Archives

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The family of President John F. Kennedy has turned over to the National Archives pictures taken in connection with the autopsy performed after his assassination — pictures that doctors say add nothing to evidence already on record.

The 65 pictures and X-rays, which were not examined by the Warren Commission during its investigation, were presented to the archives under conditions which virtually preclude public viewing of them for many years.

Asked for Photos

A Justice Department spokesman said Tuesday night the department had asked for the 14 X-rays, 25 black-and-white negatives and 26 color transparencies to complete the government's collection of assassination material for the historical record.

The two Navy pathologists who performed the autopsy the night after Kennedy was shot said in interviews Tuesday night the X-rays and pictures merely back up testimony they gave the commission. And one of them said the photographs were intended for use in the trial of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the commission as Kennedy's assassin.

"These photos are nothing more than supportive evidence for information we presented to the Warren Commission," said Cmdr. J. Thornton Boswell, who assisted Cmdr. James J. Humes in the autopsy. "All they would do would be to document what we discussed. I am sure the photographs would corrobrate our testimony."

Boswell added: "They were medical-legal photographs taken for presentation in court at the Oswald trial. Oswald was still alive at the time of the autopsy."

Killed in 1963

Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. Two days later, Oswald was shot and killed by Jack Ruby in a corridor of the Dallas jail.

Humes said commission members had asked whether the pictures were needed in connection with the pathologists' testimony. "We felt they were not," he said.

Asked whether the pictures disclosed anything not covered in the testimony, Humes said, "I would not have testified before the commission the way I did if I felt there was anything different about them."

Some recent criticism of the commission focused on the fact that the commission did not see autopsy pictures.

One commission member, Allen W. Dulles, said he didn't recall the circumstances surrounding the commission's decision not to examine the pictures.

Another Mystery

The Justice Department spokesman said he did not know how the X-rays and pictures came into the possession of the Kennedy family.

The spokesman said the pictures, authenticated by Humes and Boswell, are the only ones of the autopsy known to exist.

A letter dated Oct. 29 and signed by Burke Marshall, representing the Kennedy family, gave the government possession of the pictures. Marshall, former head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, now lives in New York City and has handled other matters for the Kennedy family.

The letter also gave the government possession of the clothes Kennedy was wearing when he was shot. Restrictions on viewing these are somewhat less stringent than for the pictures.

Earlier Tuesday, the government took legal title to the great mass of evidence considered by the commission. The evidence, including the rifle designated by the commission as the death weapon, was ordered preserved in the archives.

Under conditions laid down by the Kennedy family, there will be no nonofficial access to the autopsy pictures without the consent of the family for the first five years. This does not apply to official government investigating groups, which may see the pictures at any time.

After the first five years, access is limited to recognized experts in pathology or related services, again with the consent of the Kennedy family.

These restrictions, which apply for the lifetime of Kennedy's widow, his parents, brothers and sisters, and his two children, apparently preclude any critics of the Warren Commission report from viewing the pictures.

The rest of the evidence turned over to the archives may possibly be shown to scholars and investigators, officials said. But Dr. James B. Rhoads, deputy archivist, said "we don't plan to place them on exhibit any time in the foreseeable future."

Savings Banks Note 90 PC Hike In Gross Assets

A 90 per cent increase in total gross assets in 10 years. This was the record achieved by the savings banks of New York State as the $35 billion mark was reached Sept. 30. Total gross assets on Sept. 30, 1956 came to $19.5 billion, according to a report of the Savings Banks Association of New York State.

The increase in assets for the month was $53,495,000 or 15 per cent over total assets on August 31, 1966, the Association's report said. The increase in assets during the year ended September 30, 1966 totalled $1,614,669,000 or 4.83 per cent and was considerably smaller than that in the year ending September 30, 1965 when savings bank assets in the state increased by $2,389,534,0000 or 7.7. per cent.

Percentage of assets in real estate mortgage loans increased slightly from 80.64 to 80.89 per cent as a result of September mortgage investments of $130,414,000. Total real estate mortgage investment is now $28,328,233,000.

Investments in permanent real estate mortgage loans were $130,414,000 or 0.46 per cent higher than August 31, 1966, while investments in U. S. Government securities (direct and guaranteed) increased $36,795,000 or 2.10 per cent during the same period. Corporate stock investments increased $9,456,000 or 1.43 per cent. During this September, investments in other bonds, notes and debentures declined $61,917,000 or 2.6 per cent, cash and due from banks declined $2,177,000 or 0.45 per cent, while all other assets declined $59,076,000 or 3.98 per cent.

Fish Claims Attack on His Family Is Smear

Hamilton Fish, Jr., Republican candidate for Congress, said today that a charge by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, that a one line ad "Vote for a real American" that appeared in Schoharie County, was a smoke screen from "which to launch a smear attack on my family and myself."

The Republican candidate said that it was interesting that "the Sunday Drew Pearson's attack on my father hinting at pro-Nazi, and anti-Semitic leanings was released on the same day that he cried out about the one line ad.

"I think it is also interesting that according to Congressman Resnick's own admission he knew about the ad for more than 10 days, yet only cried out on the very day that Drew Pearson made his attack.

"I realize that my Democrat opponent may be sensitive about the use of any such slogan, as he has consistently voted against the best interests of this country. He voted to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee; voted in opposition to a bill that would prevent American aid going to the Viet Cong, and has consistently voted to send American aid to Communist block countries.

"But this isn't the real point here. I charge my opponent with launching a hollow attack strictly to screen the vicious attack on my family, my father and myself.

"In checking, I have learned that the ad of which Mr. Resnick complains was run in one county by people who have absolutely no prejudice, and who ran the ad in strict good faith in a bid to point up the Congressman's voting record and nothing more," the Republican candidate concluded.

Nixon Slates 2 Talks for Rocky, O'Connor Alone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Rockefeller had the support of Richard M. Nixon in Syracuse today, but Democrat Frank D. O'Connor headed through the North Country without Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at his side.

Nixon, the 1960 Republican presidential candidate, was slated to address an Onondaga County GOP committee meeting in Syracuse today and a Republican rally there tonight.

Meanwhile, Rockefeller planned to address rallies in Nassau and Suffolk counties, on Long Island, before a sweep through Queens.

O'Connor, on the other hand, listed campaign stops in Plattsburgh, Massena and Watertown without the initially scheduled-assistance of Kennedy.

An O'Connor spokesman said that the state's Democratic senator never had planned to make the trip and that the announcement last week that he would was "a typographical error."

A Kennedy aide said, however, Kennedy had decided against the trip because he was campaigning with the Democratic gubernatorial candidate in New York City in the morning and the evening.

Kennedy also missed more than half of an Upstate swing with O'Connor Monday through the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys. He joined the New York City Council president in Newburgh.

The state's two other major gubernatorial candidates — Liberal contender Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Conservative Paul Adams—were in New York City today, with Adams campaigning in Brooklyn and Roosevelt abstaining from appearances until after the funeral of his mother-in-law, who died Monday.

NATIONAL POSTER CHILD for the 1967 March of Dimes campaign, Donna Dill, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Dill of Hillsboro, Tex., symbolizes more than a quarter of a million American children born each year with birth defects. The March of Dimes has aided Donna in overcoming her birth defect—an open spine. As a result of surgical treatment when she was 18 months old, she can now walk with the aid of leg braces and crutches.

Negro Vote May Be Pivotal in Some Contests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negro registration zoomed up sharply in the South in the last year and probably increased considerably in the country as a whole.

Negro ballots could weigh heavily — perhaps be pivotal — in some of this year's major election contests if a high percentage of registered Negroes vote.

Precise figures on the number of U.S. Negroes qualified to vote are unobtainable because most states do not keep registration figures by races.

The Democratic National Committee uses the figure six million in news releases which have occasion to mention one. This is the same figure it used in 1964.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 2, the 306th day of 1966. There are 59 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1948, President Harry S. Truman was elected for his first full term of office.

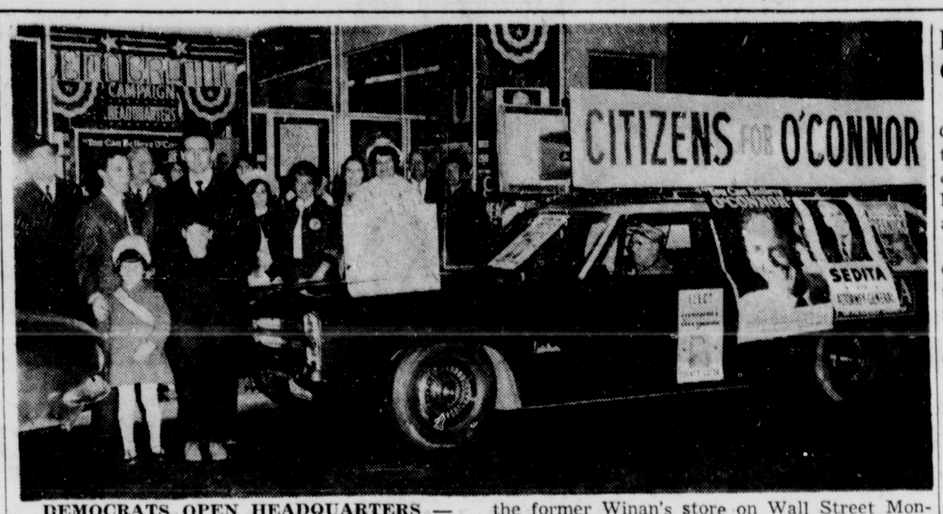

On this date:

In 1734, issues of John Peter Zenger's weekly journal were ordered seized and destroyed in New York, resulting in the famous trial that established freedom of the press.

In 1920, regular radio broadcasting began in the United States at station KDKA in Pittsburgh which broadcast the Harding - Cox presidential election returns.

In 1942, German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps began its retreat from El Alamein in the desert of North Africa.

In 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared the war against Japan was many months ahead of, as he put it, "our own optimistic schedule."

DEMOCRATS OPEN HEADQUARTERS — A special committee designated as the Citizens for O'Connor and for support to the entire Democratic ticket formally opened headquarters in the former Winan's store on Wall Street Monday. The committee is planning several open air rallies prior to Election Day on Nov. 8. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr.)

Ten years ago — The State Department announced U. S. shipments of military supplies to Israel had been halted.

Five years ago — President Kennedy said the United States would make the necessary preparations to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in his words, "so as to be ready in case it becomes necessary to conduct them." This in the wake of Soviet Russia's detonation of a bigger-than 50-megaton atomic device.

Years Too Late

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Maruice Trimmer, press aide to Gov. Jack M. Campbell, said his office received a letter recently addressed to Lew Wallace, governor of New Mexico.

Find Pills in Cupcakes Given for Halloween

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)— City police appealed to parents today to be on the lookout for cupcakes that were given to Halloween trick - or - treaters and may contain harmful pills.

Several pills were found Tuesday in a cupcake that had been given to a girl Monday night as she went trick or treating.

A doctor said the pills appeared to be a type used by expectant mothers and that they contained a small amount of a derivative of the drug LSD. They could cause minor hallucinations in a small child if taken in large doses, he added.

Police theorized that the pills may have fallen into the batter by mistake as the cakes were being prepared.

Investigators said they did not know who gave the girl the cupcake.

The child's mother took the cake to police after she ate part of it and suspected that something was wrong.

Police said the cupcake was turned over to the municipal laboratory in the Jamestown General Hospital. Technicians found the pills in the cake and later analyzed them, police added.

Dear Abby . . .

This Girl Should Take A 2nd Look

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and have been on my own for six years. I'm engaged to be married, and the kind of wedding my fiance and I want will cost about $1,500. My mother has offered me $200 towards my wedding, which is the amount she gave my sister for her small wedding, which is all it cost, so you can imagine it was pretty crummy. My fiance says my mother should pay for the kind of wedding we want as she can afford it.

The truth is, my mother and father were divorced and mother is remarried, and she doesn't think her new husband should put on a wedding for ME, and she personally can afford only $200. This is causing trouble between my fiance and me. He says mother can get the money. What can I say

SOMEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Tell your fiance that if HE wants to go into hock up to his fetlocks for a fancy wedding he can finance it because your mother will not. And I would take a good hard look at the man you are planning to marry, dear. Because if this is a sample of his reasoning, you are in for plenty of storms on the sea of matrimony.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Here is a suggestion for parents to help safeguard their daughters during their courting days. First, make a rule that your daughter cannot go out with a young man unless he comes to the house for you to meet.

When he shows up the mother should entertain him while the father goes outside and takes down his license number and a good description of his car. Color, model, etc. During the evening, if the daughter has any trouble with him, she could say, "My father took down your license number and will call the police if I am not home at the time they specified." This is foolproof protection for any girl. DAD

DEAR DAD: And what happens if Jack the Ripper shows up in a taxi?

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman in college. I am not a wolf but I like to take a girl out on Saturday nights. I found a real cute and interesting girl in one of my classes. We had a few coffee dates and I finally asked her out for Saturday night. She said she promised her mother she wouldn't single date, but if I got her girl friend a date she would go. I did, and we all had a good time.

I asked her again and it was the same story. I have fixed up four of her girl friends with dates, and I still can't get this girl to date me alone. Do you think she is on the level, or is this the way college girls get dates for their friends? FIXER UPPER

DEAR FIXER: I know how you could find out in a hurry. Quit fixing up her girl friends, and double date with one of your boy friends and a girl of his choice.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. M.: Look at it this way: Hypertension is the price you pay for being a race horse instead of a cow.

Urges Motorists' Care in Driving In School Areas

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy announced today the successful conclusion of the Automobile Club of New York's 21st annual "School's Open—Drive Carefully" campaign. Chief Murphy said members of his department would soon be removing the colorful "School's Open" posters in Kingston bringing to a close one of the most effective traffic safety campaigns his department has undertaken.

He added that the Auto Club had commended the participation of the department by noting that "participation by you and the members of your department has added greatly to this important traffic safety program that has helped protect school children during the school reopening period."

The chief also reminded motorists that:

"While policemen, School Crossing Guards and members of the AAA School Safety Patrols will be on duty at school crossings throughout the school year many children will be crossing at unprotected corners or may step off the sidewalks between parked cars. Motorists should be especially careful when driving in school areas and near parks and playgrounds."

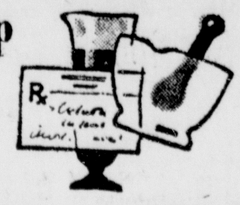

The chief also paid a special tribute to motorists in Kingston for their cooperation in making the back-to-school period a safe one for the community.

Watertown Mayor Quit Post to Teach School

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—John H. Galvin, who resigned suddenly as mayor of Watertown over the weekend, has been a substitute social - studies teacher here for about two weeks, a school official says.

The 35 - year-old Galvin, who has been teaching at Woodlawn Junior High School, "seems to like his assignment," Jack L. Migliori, associate superintendent of schools in charge of personnel, said Tuesday night.

"Certainly he's well liked by the kids and other teachers," Migliori said.

A secretary in the office of Ronald Forbes, Watertown's city manager, found Galvin's letter of resignation Monday in the "in" basket. In the letter, Galvin said he was leaving for personal reasons.

His resignation came as a surprise. Galvin's term as mayor would have expired Dec. 31, 1967.

The part - time post paid $4,000 a year, plus $2,000 for expenses. Galvin receives $27.50 a day as a substitute in the city school system, Migliori said.

Galvin inquired about a teacher's job three weeks ago, and gave some Watertown references in his employment application, Migliori commented.

POLAR POWERHOUSE, the Navy's nuclear power plant at the U.S. scientific base at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica, has set a new performance record. It has surpassed the 3,355:30-hour continuous power production mark set last August by the Air Force's reactor at a mountaintop radar station at Sundance, Wyo. Built by the Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md., the Navy reactor supplies 1,500 kilowatts of electricity to the McMurdo base.

Say Van Bramer Shows Courage

Glenn C. Van Bramer, Democratic candidate for delegate to the New York State Constitutional Convention from this district, was endrosed this week by Local 1044, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, composed of Napanoch correction officers.

Gary Tavormino, president of Local 1044, in announcing the endorsement of Van Bramer's candidacy for the all-important convention in Albany next spring, said: "Glenn Van Bramer has demonstrated real political courage in the discussion of the issues scheduled to come before the Constitutional Convention. Courage such as he has exhibited is a rare virtue in politics today."

Van Bramer, commenting on the endorsement, said: "I am extremly pleased that this important Civil Service organization has lent its support to my candidacy. The awareness of the group of the issues involved is an extremely encouraging sign in this election."

Local 1044 is the second major Civil Service organization to come out for Van Bramer. This particular union has over 24,000 Civil Service employes on all levels of government in the 38th Senatorial District, from which Van Bramer seeks the convention seat.

Views Vietnamese Language Barrier Slowing Peace Move

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Vietnamese war, language is like a rubber band, and both sides stretch it until what may seem clear at first glance turns out not to be clear at all.

Yet, it's just when the language is cloudy that one side or the other may be leaving the door open for eventual negotiations. It's when the language is clearest that both sides seem to slam the door.

Make Demands

Both the North Vietnamese Communists and the Viet Cong guerrillas —the United States insists the Viet Cong are simply North Viet Nam's agents — demand this country pull out its troops and abandon its bases in South Viet Nam.

But — they're vague on just when the pull-out must take place, never saying precisely whether this means before any negotiations can begin or after negotiations start but before there can be a final settlement.

In turn, President Johnson says the country is ready to begin talks about a settlement But this doesn't say or mean the United States wouldn't lay down conditions for peace when talks begin.

And last month at Manila Johnson agreed the United States would pull out its troops, provided the other side does likewise, and provided the other side stops infiltrating the south, and as the level of violence subsides.

Basic Points Plain

But in this seesaw neither side has said anything so flatly that talks of any kind would be impossible. It's when the language gets a little clearer that a solution seems as far off as ever.

The United States repeatedly has made two basic points plain about its position and its reason for being in the war: It wants a free, independent South Viet Nam and it wants to stop a Communist takeover of Southeast Asia.

The United States cannot retreat from those two points without admitting defeat or looking hypocritical.

But the Viet Cong's parent organization, the National Liberation Front, has laid down what seems to be a very definite condition for a peace settlement. It says the NLF must have the "decisive" voice in any settlement.

But, according to the NLF's program outlined years ago, it says the government of South Viet Nam must be overthrown and a new one put in its place. This, of course, would be one under NLF control.

And North Viet Nam, in its four-point program for peace, backs up the NLF by insisting in one of its points that:

People Must Settle

"The internal affairs of South Viet Nam must be settled by the South Vietnamese people themselves in accordance with the program of the NLF," a program just explained above.

And, to make it doubly plain, North Viet Nam later said the NLF must have the decisive voice in any settlement. That really opens a bag of obstacles.

Since the United States says the NLF is just the stooge of the North Vietnamese Reds, then the NLF program for setting up its own kind of government in South Viet Nam is really North Viet Nam's program.

But if the United States ever agrees to this, it would be abandoning and betraying the two prime points it has insisted upon from the beginning:

1. South Viet Nam must be left free and independent.

2. The Communist attempt to take over Southeast Asia must be stopped, a main reason the United States is fighting this war.

If this country let North Viet Nam take over South Viet Nam, then, instead of being stopped, the Red attempt to take over Southeast Asia would have been advanced by one step and, worse, would have been agreed to by this country.

Exchange Pleasantries

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy avoided any hint of a rivalry for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination with an exchange of compliments and humor during a New York political rally Monday night.

Kennedy introduced Humphrey to guests at a $250-a-plate dinner as "a man who has contributed very much to the United States and really deserves the title Mr. Liberal."

Humphrey, in turn, thanked Kennedy for his campaigning this fall and said, "I'm very grateful to him for all he has done for the Democratic party."

Both men urged the election of Frank D. O'Connor who is opposing Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for re-election.

Holy Hours Held Sunday In County by CYO Groups

The Ulster County Catholic Youth Organization on Sunday, the Feast of Christ the King, observed the beginning of National CYO Week with two solemn Holy Hours.

At 3 o'clock at St. Peter's Church in Kingston some 350 elementary age youth, their leaders and friends heard the Rev. Paul Sullivan of St. Catherine Laboure' talk on the real meaning of the Catholic Youth Organization and what it stands for.

The youth assembled, led by the Rev. Francis Brennan, administrator of St. Peter's Parish, consecrated themselves to Christ the King and offered prayers for World Peace in accord with the intentions of The Holy Father Pope Paul. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, County CYO moderator was celebrant for Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and was assisted by the Rev. John Mulligan, moderator of St. Joseph's CYO.

Sunday evening at the Church of St. Catherine Laboure more than 400 Ulster CYO Teens, their advisors and friends assembled to officially welcome His Excellency the Most Rev. James McManus, Episcopal Vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties. Bishop McManus presided at the Teenage Holy Hour for World Peace. He also delivered the sermon on Christ the King.

During the service the Bishop assisted by Rt. Rev. Msgr. James McNally, pastor of St. Catherine Laboure and Father Farrelly officially installed the new teenage officers of the Ulster County Council of CYO Teen Age Club. The teens present, led by Miss Maria Carrollo, president of the Laboure Teen Club consecrated themselves to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Lector for the celebration of the Word of God was Kenneth Cherrstrom, a Christus Rex Award recipient of St. Catherine Laboure.

Assisting at the Sunday evening ceremony were the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, CYO Moderator of St. Mary of the Snows; the Rev. Francis Brennan, the Rev. John Mulligan, the Rev. Robert Saccoman, CYO Moderator of St. Peter's Rosendale; the Rev. Paul Sullivan, and the Rev. James Le Bar, CYO Moderator of St. Catherine Laboure as master of ceremonies.

His Excellency Bishop McManus personally met and congratulated each of the teens and adults who will receive awards at St. Patrick's Cathedral next Sunday.

Officers invested during the ceremony were Miss Michelle Carroll of St. Mary of the Snows as president; Wiliam Fitzgerald, of St. Mary's Kingston as vice president, Miss Mary Dolan, St. Joseph's as secretary, Wendell Scherer of St. Peter's as treasurer and Miss Terri Rossler of St. Peter's Rosendale, program chairman. Mrs. Nancy Buser and Miss Marguerite Flaherty are adult advisors to the County Federation. Leo A. Schupp is county CYO director.

START CYO WEEK—Participating in installation of Ulster County Council of CYO Teen Age Club officers Sunday at St. Catherine Laboure Church, Lake Katrine are Bishop James E. McManus, center, with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, county moderator, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James McNally, pastor. Officers installed are (l-r) Michelle Carroll, president; William Fitzgerald, vice president; Mary Dolan, secretary; Wendell Scherer, treasurer and Terri Rossler, program chairman. Mrs. Nancy Buser, adult advisor assists. Two Holy Hours were held Sunday marking the start of National CYO Week in the county. Cat Strays Home

MESA, ARiz. (AP) — Gary Jewett, 10, reluctantly put his tomcat named Thomas up for adoption six months ago at Sunnyslope, Ariz., nearly 20 miles away.

The 2-year-old cat returned recently and Gary's mother has agreed to keep it.

"I hate to throw him out a second time," she said.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, (AP) — Thieves with expensive tastes grabbed 66 cases of scotch from a state store but left less expensive whiskey on the racks.

N.Y. State's Income Over Estimates by $110 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state comptroller says state income tax collections are pouring in at a pace that promises to exceed the original revenue estimates by $110 million.

Comptroller Arthur Levitt reported Tuesday that collections for the first seven months of the fiscal year totaled $949,200,000—or $183,400,000 more than the tax had brought in at the same time a year ago.

May Hit $1.5 Billion

"If the present rate of increased collections over last year continues for the remainder of the year," he said, "the net collections will be well in excess of $1.5 billion."

Levitt, who is the only Democrat holding statewide office and who is seeking re-election, observed that Gov. Rockefeller originally had forecast income tax collections of $1,390,000,000.

The Republican governor made the estimate when he submitted his budget to the Legislature last January for the fiscal year running from April 1, 1966, through March 31, 1967.

In issuing his annual budget summary last month, Rockefeller revised the estimate upwards to $1,455,000,000 — an increase of $65 million.

Brisk Activity

He attributed this to brisk economic activity and said he would use the surplus to offset the need to float highway-construction bonds, as he had intended to do to help balance the budget.

Levitt said Tuesday the latest reports indicate revenue from the tax would exceed Rockefeller's prediction last month by $45 million.

'67 CHEVROLET

Now that you've seen all the daring new things our stylists did, get in and sample some of the safest, soundest ideas on the road!

What you feel is as new as what you see—thanks to all the fresh thinking that's gone into the way it rides, steers, starts, stops and looks after your safety.

It's got a remarkable new road feel—and ride is only the beginning of it. We improved the smoothness and quietness of the power train. Worked out a new anti-noise, anti-vibration body mounting system. Topped off everything with a solidly crafted, sound-conditioned Body by Fisher. And came up with a ride so hushed and gentle you'll feel like calling this one the '67 Shhhevrolet.

It even steers, starts and stops better. Refinements in the steering system make turning the wheel as much as 10% easier. A new battery and starter motor snap the standard V8 and 6 to life more quickly. Brake drums are precision rounded to make your stopping smoother. And if your kind of driving calls for the extra fade-resistance of front disc brakes, you can specify them.

We put safety features on top of safety features. For example, there's an energy-absorbing steering wheel atop the new GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. A dual master cylinder brake system with warning light. An energy-absorbing instrument panel with smooth contoured knobs and levers. Seat belts front and rear with pushbutton buckles, and front seat belt retractors. All standard, to be sure.

And there's a new SS 427 package you can order for the Impala Super Sport Coupe or Convertible. For starters, you get a 427-cubic-inch Turbo-Jet V8 that turns out 385 hp. Plus a domed hood, special flat-cornering suspension and red or white stripe tires on wider wheels.

Of course, there are all sorts of new custom features you can add, too, such as tape or FM stereo. But if you find so much that's new a bit too much to remember—drop down to your dealer's and take a drive. It'll all become unforgettable.

GOING UP, NOT DOWN is SM. Sgt. Anthony Martino, demonstrating a new method of creating realistic parachute drops into the water. The drops are part of survival training for aircrewmen of the U.S. Air Force Air Defense Command. At a signal from Martino, a powerful motor boat races away at full speed, lifting the parasail and the sergeant 300 feet above the water. From that height he releases from the boat and drifts down to a landing. The parasail, equipped with 54 aerodynamic holes, acts first as a sail to get the trainee airborne, then as a parachute to simulate a realistic emergency descent.

Kerhonkson Club Seeking More Contest Entries

Kerhonkson Lions Club President Sidney Chernick said today that 10 entries have been received locally for the Lions International Peace Essay Contest, which will net the worldwide winner $50,000.

Chernick added that a $50 savings bond will be presented to the local winner by his club.

"We are pleased with the number of entries," Chernick said, "but we would like to see a great many more." He said entries will be accepted through Dec. 10. Chernick added that aim of the essay is to stir an interest in peace and to challenge "the men and women of tomorrow."

Contestants will be competing against entrants from throughout the world for a $25,000 first prize or one of the other awards including eight $1,000 awards and a trip to Chicago for final judging.

Chernick said the contest is open to young people between the ages of 14 and 22, as of Jan. 15, 1967, with the ultimate winning essay to be presented at the Lions International 50th Annual Convention in Chicago.

Local judging, he said, will be done by James W. Davis, Philip Korn and Richard Terwilliger.

Minimum Wage Passage Brought Into Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — City Council President Frank D. O'Connor and state Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia charged today that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's concern over the minimum wage "bears a direct relationship to the years of his candidacies."

In a statement from O'Connor's gubernatorial campaign headquarters, the two Democrats said:

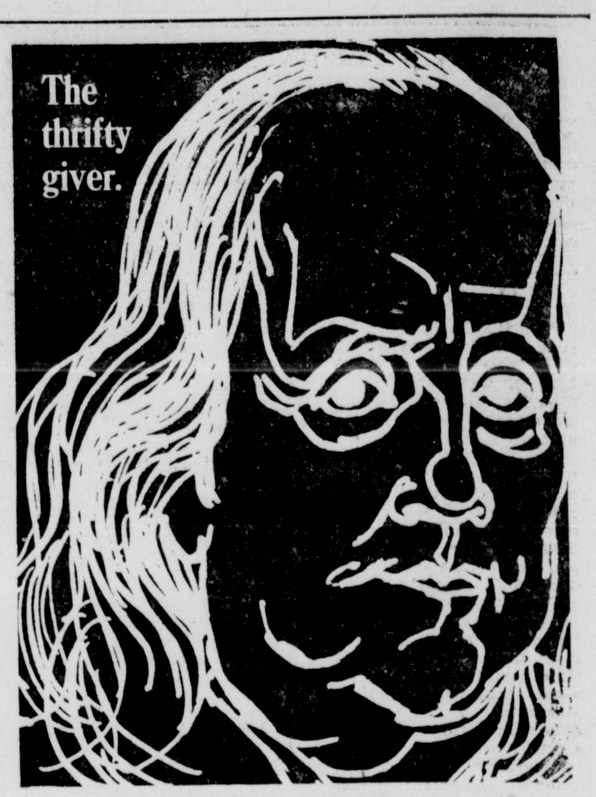

"The years of Rockefeller's opposition to a $1.50 minimum wage and the untold hardship suffered by hundreds of thousands of fully employed underpaid workers are the true facts of his administration."

They noted that the two most recent hikes in the state minimum wage came during the gubernatorial election years of 1962 and 1961. In 1963 and 1964, Democratic efforts to raise the minimum to $1.50 were allowed to die in legislative committee, they said.

"In 1965 the Democratic legislature twice put Rockefeller to the test and on both occasions he failed to meet the needs of almost 650,000 workers by vetoing legislation which would have raised the minimum wage to $1.50," they said.

Even in 1966 after the Democratic Assembly passed similar legislation early in the session, "this was bottled up by Rockefeller and the Republican-controlled Senate," the Democrats said.

"Finally, the governor consented to the passage of the Democratic legislation if the name of a Republican sponsor was added and if an exemption was granted the canning industry. The Democrats considered this a small price to pay," they said.

Firms Up Theory Smoking Causes Cancer of Lungs

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — A biochemist attending the 20th Tobacco Chemists' Research Conference in the heart of tobacco country expresses disagreement with the idea that cigarette smoking and lung cancer are only statistically linked.

Dr. Fred G. Bock of Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., said in an interview Tuesday that the simple statistical link between smoking and cancer now is 15 years old. Bock said recent, more sophisticated comparisons between smokers and nonsmokers, also have confirmed the connection.

Bock, one of 300 delegates at the conference in Winston-Salem, home of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., said a statistical link between smoking and disease is the only kind of "proof" scientists ever will get in dealing with humans.

The controlled conditions of laboratory experiments with test tubes or animals are not attainable with people, he said, adding that no one is going to give people smoking diseases intentionally.

Bock said it is meaningless to dismiss existing studies of a connection between smoking and disease as coincidences.

Bock is department head of the Roswell Institute's Orchard said, tumors are produced on mice from materials drawn from smoke condensation.

Bock said he knows of no one performing experiments with tobacco smoke and animals who does not, believe that smoke somehow causes cancer.

He added, however, that he referred only to persons doing biological experiments on animals, and not to chemists in general.

He said there are plenty of other possible causes of lung cancer, including air pollution. But, he said, biological studies on mice indicate cigarette smoke causes tumors.

GOP Sees Governor Races as Key to 1968

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are staking most of their hopes for widening the base of their 1968 challenge to President Johnson primarily on the outcome of governors' races in next Tuesday's balloting.

It is in these contests for control of statehouses that Democratic strategists privately concede they are considerably more vulnerable than they believe they are in the 435 House and 35 Senate contests to be decided at the same time.

From the current low point of 17 governors, Republicans hope for a substantial gain that will give them a chance to build state organizations geared toward capturing 1968 electoral votes in an uphill contest against Johnson's expected reelection bid.

Although Democrats don't believe it will turn out that way, some GOP strategists envision their party's occupancy of the governor's office in such key states as New York, California, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maryland and Massachusetts in 1967.

Still Leads News Poll

O'Connor had 42 per cent, Rockefeller 38.2 per cent, Roosevelt 12.1 per cent and Adams 7.7 per cent.

N-F Will Build New Treatment Plant Before '71

ALBANY, N.Y. AP) — The city of Niagara Falls, N.Y., will construct a secondary sewage-treatment plant on the Niagara River by Dec. 31, 1970.

The State Health Department reported Tuesday that the city's common council had agreed to the timetable set by the state agency under department charges that the city was polluting the river near the American Falls.

At the same time, a lawyer for the village of Marathon, Cortland County, told the department by letter that the village was studying a charge of polluting the Tioughnioga River with raw sewage from storm sewers.

A state lawyer said, however, that the response was "no defense." The department was expected to order the village to improve its treatment facilities.

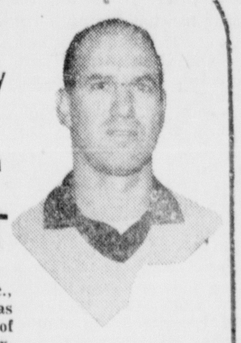

In other matters, the department postponed until Nov. 15 pollution hearings for Cato and the village of Fairhaven, both in Cayuga County.

The village of Homer in Cortland County, meanwhile, was given until Jan. 2, 1967, to answer a state charge of polluting the Tioughnioga River.

Dummy's Trump Saved for Entry

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Oswald says: "When you can ruff something in dummy you are tempted to do it first and think later. After all, that's a major use for dummy's trumps."

Jim: "It is a lot better to put in some study first. There may be better things to do with the dummy."

Oswald: "In particular when dummy holds a long suit you should always see what you can do to set that suit up. Sometimes you can make a lot of tricks that way."

Jim: "If South decides to try to ruff clubs after winning the first diamond it won't be any trouble at all for the defense to knock him right out of the box. If he works with that nice six-card heart suit in dummy he clinches his contract and will be likely to wind up with an overtrick."

Oswald: "Let's see how things go if South goes after dummy's hearts. He wins the first diamond in his own hand and leads a heart toward dummy. West should play low but South should rise with the king. He has heard West open the bidding. The king holds and a second heart puts West in with the ace. It doesn't matter what he leads but he will probably play the jack of diamonds. South wins in dummy, plays a trump to his jack and a second trump back to dummy. Then he ruffs a heart to set the suit up. After that, all he had to do is get back to dummy with the last trump and cash the last three spades to wind up with an overtrick."

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — The American Electric Power System says it will construct in the Wheeling area what it calls the nation's largest privately owned electric power plant.

Grandparents Act To Keep Boy, 8, Away From Dad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mark Painter's grandparents, fighting to hold on to the eight-year-old boy, have told the Supreme Court the "rights" of natural parents should not be allowed to outweigh a child's welfare.

Mark is the central figure in an historic child-custody case. At the moment under an Iowa supreme court ruling, he is being cared for by his grandparents, Dwight and Margaret Bannister of Ames, Iowa, but his father, Harold W. Painter of Brookdale, Calif., has asked the Supreme Court to clear the way for the boy's return.

Mark's mother and younger sister were killed in an auto crash in 1962. Painter left the boy with the Bannisters the next summer. After remarrying in November 1964 he began a court fight to get Mark back.

Last February the Iowa supreme court blocked the way, partly on the ground Painter leads a "bohemian" life and that he is "either an agnostic or atheist and has no concern for formal religious training."

It is not unusual for an American court to rule against parents in custody disputes. But in such instances the court usually has found that the parent is unfit or has abandoned the child.

ON THE TRAIL TOGETHER—Hitting the campaign trail together in Columbia County Thursday night, Alexander Aldrich came out strongly in support of Hamilton Fish Jr. for Congress. I said I would support Ham to the hilt, because a Republican election is of vital importance to our District." Mr. Aldrich who was defeated in a Republican Primary by the Dutchess County attorney, said "I'm for Ham, and I'm asking everyone who worked so hard for me in the primary to get behind Ham Fish and work just as hard for him." Ham Fish, who has been campaigning throughout the district said: "I certainly deeply appreciate this backing. I want to thank Sam very much for his wholehearted support."

California Report

State Colleges More Populous, But Rated Second

By LYLE W. PRICE

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — California state colleges claim to be the most populous system of higher education in the nation, but concede they are No. 2 to a smaller rival.

The rival is the University of California, which may have fewer students but does have more money, more books and more glory.

Has More Books

The university's Bancroft Library on the Berkeley campus, for instance, alone contains more books than all 18 state college libraries combined. In today's atmosphere, one might expect the state college students to be picketing about this. Instead, it's the professors who are complaining.

And, from San Diego near the Mexican border to Arcata 1,000 miles north, they are unionizing. The union, the Association of California State College Professors, claims membership of nearly half the system's 6,500 members.

"A strike is out of the question," the union's leaders say. But, they added in a report to college trustees this summer, "The situation is intolerable."

The two major complaints are student-teacher ratio and finances:

With around 80,000 students on nine campuses, the University of California student body is dwarfed by the 160,000 students in the state colleges.

Current budgets total $230 million for the university, $158 million for state colleges. The professors says this adds up to smaller salaries as well as smaller libraries.

Must Park Cars

The state college professors also complain of such occasional nonscholarly duties as helping to park cars at football games. But they say it is the student who is most cheated.

At the heart of the issue lies the basic differences between the state college and university systems, the union's leaders and Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke agreed in interviews.

The state college system, they explain, had its roots in the state's early normal schools, the old designation for teacher training colleges. The university flourished with liberal arts and science studies, bolstered by graduate schools to train doctors, lawyers and scientists. This division of education has been continued.

Today, under California law, the state college system is charged with primary responsibility in training teachers. State law designates the university specifically to conduct postgraduate professional schools and specialized scientific study, such as Berkeley's nuclear research.

Esopus Hearing Set on Tax Relief For Elderly Plan

The Town Board of the Town of Esopus will hold a public hearing on the tax relief proposal for those 65 years of age and over Wednesday night, it was announced today by Roger Mabie, supervisor. The hearing is scheduled for 8 p. m. and will be held at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

The tax relief measure was passed by the State Legislature in the closing days of its 1966 session. Before the law can become effective locally, however, it must also be acted upon by the local governing bodies having the power to levy taxes. The public hearing, such as the one being held by the Town of Esopus tomorrow night, is one of the law's requirements prior to local action.

The law, when enacted, provides tax relief up to 50 per cent for those meeting the requirements. Application must be made on a form that will be provided by the state. Applications must be filed yearly and will be processed by the Town's Board of Assessors.

Wednesday night's hearing applies only to taxes raised for town purposes. A public hearing on county taxation was held at the County Office Building, Oct. 26. A public hearing on school taxes and the law's application is expected to be held by the Kingston School District Consolidated in the near future.

Labeled Political Race With Everything

By ARTHUR EDSON

CINCINNATI (AP) — Swiftly the Plymouth convertible swerved—to the right, of course—and Bob Taft took the expressway exit so hurriedly that his sound truck behind missed the turn.

No one could say Taft was driving recklessly. He was just another harassed candidate without a minute to spare.

All the Ingredients

This race has everything: The Taft name, a national political force for four generations, grandad was president and chief justice, dad was Mr. Republican: lively, young, articulate contenders, money to spend, vociferous supporters who feel that if their hero is drubbed then all mankind is doomed, the prospect of a finish that could be in doubt to the last ballot.

After serving his apprenticeship in the Ohio Legislature, Taft was elected congressman-at-large in 1962 and seemed on his way up, maybe even to the White House.

Then, from Taft's viewpoint, a terrible thing happened, namely, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who lost Ohio so one-sidedly to President Johnson in 1964 that Taft sank, too, in his bid for the Senate.

Another Loss Disaster

Now, as Taft redhots see it, another defeat not only would be a disaster for him, but it would also be a major setback in their attempt to steer the Republican party along what they think is a moderate path.

"There's only despair and confusion on the right," Taft's campaign manager, Paul Rubin, says. "The salvation of the Republican party — if there is a salvation — is a man like Bob Taft."

For the Democrats: Lyndon B. Johnson's success in pushing his "Great Society" programs through Congress has been due to the loyalty of 48 freshmen Democrats. If Republicans can win back half or more of these seats — and this is one of them — Johnson will get little new legislation, and will have trouble financing programs he already has.

No Easy Work

"If we lost 10 or 12 seats, the control of the House is going right back into the hands of the Republicans and the Southern Democrats. It would be a shame and a disgrace to the people of Ohio not to send this man back to Congress."

This district is the eastern part of Hamilton County — Cincinnati. It was strongly Republican when Gilligan shocked everyone, himself included, by winning by 5,411 votes in 1964. To make sure this wouldn't happen again, the Ohio Legislature gave the district a little more real estate and 7,000 more Republican votes.

Democrats, especially those who are very poor, need a lot of arousing before they will go to the polls, and this is hard to do when there's no presidential race.

Also Battling Computer

Gilligan isn't only fighting Taft; he's also battling a computer.

Painstakingly, the name of every voter — and his preferences — was collected and fed to the machine. "You've got to go where the ducks are," Goldwater used to say. In these critical days before Nov. 8, Taft can go where the undecided ducks are.

On election day, in theory, the Republicans can round up every solid vote they have — and can studiously ignore those they know will go against them.

Tall, husky men like Taft usually rate adjectives like "bluff" and "hearty." Despite that impeccable family tree, despite Yale and Harvard, Taft at 49 is still shy and slow to warm up.

Suave he is not. But take him to the large, elegantly turned out home of Mrs. Joseph Clasgens Jr., before a large, elegantly turned out group of matrons, and they love him.

Gilligan is tall, red-haired, graceful. Fascinated with the English language and the humanities at Notre Dame, he got his master's at the University of Cincinnati and wound up as an instructor in literature at Xavier University.

Although he served five and a half terms on the Cincinnati City Council, Gilligan, at 45, retains some mannerisms of a modern prose and drama teacher, with the gesture that can end in a slight flutter, the answer that can be both amused and a bit pedantic.

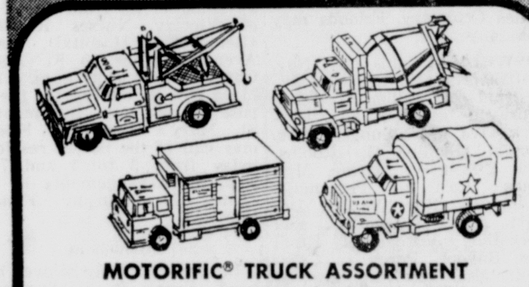

Rough-hewn he is not. But get him before the Teamsters, proud of speaking guttily on gut issues, and they love him.

Mayor Proclaims Week for CYO

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan recently issued a proclamation in behalf of local observance of Catholic Youth Organization Week which is to continue through Nov. 6.

He noted that some 8,000,000 children, teenagers and young adults are to participate nationally in the observance, and added:

"In the future the cause for peace among nations will for the large part rest in the hands of our youth. Knowledge of and dedication to brotherly love, a desire for universal unity and a growing sense of personal responsibility are vital to the continued advancement of our country toward world peace."

World News In Brief

Charged as Spys

BERLIN (AP) — Two Jordanians — a dishwasher and a student — have been arrested on charges of espionage for the Soviet Union, West Berlin police reported today.

They said the two men, Jubrail Khoury, 36, and Jamil Hamdam, 22, got their information primarily from secretaries in diplomatic and allied military establishments whom they dated.

Sentenced to 13 Years

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — Kenneth Leishman has been sentenced to 13 years after pleading guilty to two jailbreaks and another charge of theft and conspiracy in the $383,000 gold bullion robbery at Winnipeg Airport.

He was sentenced Tuesday to seven years on the robbery charge and a concurrent six-year term for the jailbreaks. His parole on a previous bank robbery conviction was revoked, adding six more years.

Leishman, 34, father of seven, escaped from a detention home Sunday and was recaptured 3½ hours later. On Sept. 1 he broke out of a provincial jail and flew to Indiana in a stolen plane. He was recaptured after a gun battle in Gry, Ind.

Red Blast Had U-235

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's latest nuclear blast was not of the hydrogen variety and did not involve thermonuclear materials, a report on preliminary analysis by the United States said today.

The explosive, it said, was enriched uranium-235, the same one employed in the three earlier Chinese tests.

The announcement came from the Atomic Energy Commission.

It appeared to confirm anew that Red China has mastered, at least to a significant degree, the difficult task of producing nuclear weapons material from uranium, instead of employing the comparatively easier - to-produce explosive plutonium.

The AEC's announcement said flatly:

"Present indications are that neither plutonium nor thermonuclear (hydrogen) materials were used in the Oct. 27 event."

Goods Orders Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Factory orders for durable goods—a leading indicator of future business activity — increased twice as fast during September as the Commerce Department had first predicted.

Led by the aircraft industry, such orders set a record, the department said Tuesday.

New durable orders rose 7.2 per cent during September to $25.2 billion. That sharply reversed two months of declines.

Warns of Arms Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ecuador wants the United States—a supplier of military equipment —to "exhaust every effort" to halt what it calls a threatening arms race in Latin America.

The appeal Tuesday from Ecuador's Foreign Minister Jorge S. Lara followed confirmation by U.S. officials that this country is selling 55 m4x tanks to Brazil, 20 of which have been delivered.

Last week Chile announced it is going to purchase 21 British-made jet planes. Linked to this was U.S. sale of 25 A4B jet fighter-bombers to Argentina.

Serious in Guinea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says treatment of U.S. officials and citizens in the capital of Guinea has eased slightly but is still "a serious situation."

Robinson McIlvaine, U.S. ambassador to Guinea, had been placed under house arrest Sunday in Conakry, but now was reportedly free to go where he wants in that capital city.

The State Department said, however, that most Americans there are still under protective custody.

The move by the African country followed the detention of 19 Guineans, including the foreign minister, in Accra, Ghana. The Ghanaian government said it was detaining the Guineans because, it claimed, about 100 Ghanaians have been forcibly kept in Guinea.

Overseas Radio Service Provided To Men in Viet

With the approach of the holiday season families, relatives and friends thoughts turn increasingly to those boys from the area who find themselves in Viet Nam and other far-flung distances from home.

Now, through the voluntary service of some 7,000 dedicated amateur radio operators throughout the United States, it is possible for those at home to send personal greetings via radio to sons, fathers and husbands through the facility known as Navy MARS.

Volunteer Service

Created by the Armed Forces, there exist Army, Navy and Air Force MARS (Military Affiliate Radio System), each operating under the jurisdiction of its own service, and manned by "ham" radio operators who devote many hours each day to the handling of messages to and from families and those dear to them.

For this effort, these amateurs receive no compensation whatever, and must assemble and maintain their own equipment at a high level of performance in order to keep open the great flow of personal message traffic which the increasing build-up of military activity has created.

Personal messages may include anything from casual greetings, to birth announcements directed to new fathers or uncles, and only advices of death are prohibited, these being handled by military services themselves.

Locally, this message service is carired by Robert I. Baron, of Hurley, who operates Navy MARS Station NRGT on a regular daily schedule.

Personal messages or greetings may be sent, and answers requested without charge.

Procedure Simple

Procedure for the forwarding of such messages is simple. The sender telephones Baron, giving the addressee's complete name, serial number, attachment, and other details of address used in writing letters, and follows with such messages as may be desired. Answers may be requested to be sent via Navy MARS.

Navy MARS imposes no limitation on the number of messages a person or family may send, and welcomes extensive use of the service.

On any occasion of importance to families or friends, at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years Day, servicemen far from home, whether in the United States, or overseas, look for word from home. Use of Navy MARS facilities as a means of keeping close to those away from home is recommended as one additional way to bring words of cheer to the men who bear the burden of the defense of those at home.

Pedestrian Dies In Orange County Highway Mishap

A 58-year-old Orange County woman was fatally injured at 5:50 p. m. Tuesday when she was struck by a car while walking across Route 207 near the Silver Stream Trailer Park entrance, Town of New Windsor.

State Police said Barbara Bivona, of RD 29, Newburgh, died at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, at 8 p. m.

Orange County Coroner James Lulves withheld a verdict pending an autopsy report, troopers said.

August E. Klatt, 54, of Box 251, Salisbury Mills, operator of the car, was cited by troopers for driving a car with unsafe tires. The summons is returnable on Nov. 8 in the Town of New Windsor justices court.

Troopers said Klatt was driving east on the highway and the woman was walking from the north to south side of Route 207 when she reportedly stepped into the path of the vehicle and was struck and knocked to the pavement.

50 From Ulster to Receive Awards Sunday at Cathedral

Catholic Youth Organization Week will close Sunday, Nov. 6 with a special ceremony at St. Patrick's Cathedral where 534 exemplary elementary school youngsters, teenagers and adults will receive awards.

The Most Rev. Terence J. Cooke, DD, Auxiliary Bishop of New York will represent His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman and preside at the 2 p. m. ceremony which will include presentation of the CYO's Christus Rex Award which will be conferred on 153 grammar school boys and girls. Volunteer Leadership Medals will be given to 154 adult leaders from the counties and parishes of the Archdiocese.

The Cardinal Spellman Youth Award and the Christus Rex Award will recognize the youngsters "outstanding leadership qualities, fine Christian character, faithfulness to religious duties and active good citizenship."

The CYO Volunteer Awards are given annually during CYO Week to adult leaders for "meritorious services to CYO parish, county and archdiocesan leisure time programs for youth."

The awards ceremony climaxes a week long series of events involving 8,000,000 children, teenagers and young adults nationally and 278,000 throughout the Archdiocese who participate under the theme, "Peace Through Brotherhood."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Philip J. Murphy, executive director of the New York CYO paid tribute to the volunteer adult leader: "The contribution which the volunteer makes toward CYO is priceless. The dedication of these outstanding men and women to the service of the church through parish programs is to be commended. The influence of these leaders, the training and inspiration they have given to our young people is of great assistance to the parish priest in the task of bringing these boys and girls closer to God."

Some of the tasks performed by volunteer leaders include coaching of parish athletic teams, organizing and directing cultural activities such as one-act plays and art shows, planning social activities, joining in spiritual observance for youth and serving as adult advisors for neighborhood CYO teenage clubs.

Fifty adults, teenagers and elementary age youth from Ulster County will be honored at the Cathedral ceremony. They are:

Charge GOP Film Distorts, Misleads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats charge that a Republican campaign film scheduled for Sunday contains "highly distorted and misleading material."

The charges were made by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey in a letter Tuesday to the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Republicans thanked the Democrats for giving them publicity but contended that a final version of the film has not yet been made.

The committee said only that it had received Bailey's letter.

The film, entitled "What's Going On Here" and narrated by actor Raymond Massey, is scheduled to be televised Sunday on the National Broadcasting Co. network. It was produced for the Republican Congressional Committee by Newspix Inc. of New York City.

"Miss Long, about Junior's science project: I think he has achieved a major breakthrough in his frog-raising project!"

Train, Truck Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A New York Central System freight train that struck a halted tractor - trailer carrying seven new automobiles in suburban Chili caused an estimated $40,000 damage to the cars and truck, an auto agency president says.

The cars were being shipped to Hart Taylor, president of Hart Taylor Motors in nearby Spencerport. He estimated the damage at $25,000 to the autos and $15,000 to the truck.

The truck halted on the Union Street grade crossing when the tractor undercarriage caught on the tracks, Monroe County sheriff's deputies said.

To Probe Philadelphia Strike of Orchestra

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H. J. Tate has named a three-man Board of Public Accountability to investigate and attempt to reach a compromise in the seven-week old Philadelphia Orchestra strike.

The mayor's announcement came Tuesday night after Local 77, American Federation of Musicians, representing the 106 orchestra players, rejected what management called its "final offer."

Named by Tate were S. Harry Galfand, his personal labor advisor who has been acting as mediator in the strike; Dr. George W. Taylor of the Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, and F. Bruce Baldwin, president of Abbott's Dairies.

The musicians turned down the offer of a three-year contract providing pay increases and permitting "moonlighting." The pact would have increased minimum weekly salaries from the $200 paid under the old contract which expired Sept. 15 to $220 in the first year, $227.50 the second year and $235 in the third year.

The rejected offer also included a $2,000 yearly stipend for recordings and five weeks of paid vacations and a reduction of some working hours.

The musicians have sought a two-year pact with a minimum of $265 weekly the first year and $270 the second plus a $2,500 yearly recording fee.

In addition, they are seeking a large reduction in the number of concerts and rehearsals, claiming a "back - breaking" work load that prevents them from "moonlighting" — through offering music lessons—even if they wanted to.

Directors Named By Ellenville Hospital Board

Three directors were elected to the Board of the Ellenville Community Hospital at the recent annual meeting of the voluntary non-profit institution.

Elected to serve six year terms were Frederica Davenport and Donald Sprague of Ellenville. Re-elected to serve another term on the board was William C. Smith, Ellenville.

Approximately 75 persons attended the meeting.

Benjamin Lonstein, president of the board and Evald Borsboll Koefoed, hospital administrator gave reports at the meeting. Both indicated that the promises and predictions of the hospital family at last year's annual meeting were certainly fulfilled with the opening of the new hospital and the subsequent dedication by the President of the United States.

An eight-page annual report containing facts and figures on hospital income; building campaign fund; service reports etc. was distributed at the meeting. The report pointed up a large increase in admissions, patient days, and general services at the new hospital in a comparison with a like period at the old VM hospital building.

Copies of the annual report are available on request from the hospital business office.

Made First Broadcast

Woodrow Wilson was the first U.S. president to make a radio broadcast, doing so on July 4, 1919, while he was aboard the USS George Washington which was carrying him home from the Peace Conference at Versailles.

Note Refinements Of Old Singing Telegram Service

By DAVE SMITH
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It all began when Lucille Lips phoned Rudy Vallee at a New York night club and sang: "Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you, happy birthday, dear Rudy." You know the rest.

Now automation is taking over the field pioneered by Miss Lips in that 1933 phone call, when she warbled Western Union's very first singing telegram.

Reel Smoothly

Henceforth, singing telegrams need not be rendered by tinny tenors, squeaky sopranos or cracked contraltos. They all can reel smoothly off your phonograph in the rich baritone of John Gorman.

Western Union's new automated greetings, called Melody-Grams, come in 10 different messages, each with lyrics appropriate to some special event, on 33 1-3-rpm records.

"Happy Birthday to You" still leads the hit parade, but you also have a choice of "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Little Boy Congratulations," "Little Girl Congratulations," "Hello Dolly," "Love and Marriage," "Anniversary Waltz," "Do I Love You," "I Wish You Love" and "I Want to Communicate With You."

In Bouncy Rhythms

Performed in bouncy rhythms and lively lyrics, the records are accompanied by a large greeting card and a five-word personal message. At $3 for immediate coast-to-coast delivery or $2.25 for next-day delivery, they are a slightly larger investment than the old-style telegram where the operator dials and then serenades you over the phone. That service will be continued, however, at the same rate — the regular telegram charge plus 50 cents for "special handling."

A Western Union spokesman predicted that the new service would turn a tidy profit. Singing telegrams for years have averaged only a tiny part of Western Union's net income — roughly a quarter of a million dollars out of about $305 million last year.

One person particularly interested in the records' success is baritone Gorman, who collects a royalty of one penny per Melody Gram.

Gorman, 37, has seven children and has always wanted a singing career. "But singing hasn't put bread and butter on the table so far," he says, so he is a stonecutter and bricklayer in Dalton, Mass.

Weltner Critical Of Both Men in Georgia Drive

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., says the gubernatorial race in his state represents a contest between two men "who can less ill-serve the state of Georgia."

He told a Cornell University audience that, if fellow Democrat Lester Maddox were elected governor, the state capitol would become "the only gold-domed Klavern in the nation."

Weltner withdrew last month from running for re-election because, he said, he "could not compromise with hate, which Lester Maddox represents."

Maddox won the Democratic nomination, the congressman said, "simply by capitalizing on the race issue." The Republican nominee for governor of Georgia is Howard H. Callaway.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

Why give to the Community Chest?

This is a very good question in view of the present fund drive for $299,600, for 13 agencies in 1967, and everyone in the Chest area is asked to give 25 cents or $1 per agency or if salaried or businessman, then ½ of one per cent or one day's pay.

There are many reasons we could list but the most important one is the 13 agencies and the services they provide in our county. These services are worthy of our support and the Chest insures maximum return for the dollar. But if this is so, then why do some object. I think it is because by giving to all 13 we lose a personal relationship to the agencies we are closer to or to which we would rather give more generously.

However, this is the strength and the premium value of the Chest United Way approach for we can do both and all will receive the needed funds. This year it is possible to designate to certain agencies and one can thereby satisfy their personal desires or to say it another way, will not be forced to give when they don't care to.

In answering this question we are reminded of Winthrop Rockefeller's remark "that it is very hard to give away money wisely." But this isn't a problem when we give to the Chest. It is a "wise" way of giving. The people who administer the program are our friends and neighbors who give of their personal time. All agencies are reviewed to insure wise expenditures and program. Almost all of the funds stay here in Ulster County. In short, a true opportunity to give a little or give a lot and know it is needed and serving a good purpose.

Find Bodies of Two In Plane Wreckage

BEDFORD, N.H., (AP) — Wreckage of a private plane missing since Tuesday night was found today with the bodies of two men aboard nearby.

The victims were identified by a fire department official as Ned Sinclair, 56, of Windsor, Vt., and his son, Hugh, 31, of Claremont, N.H.

The single engine craft was found in a wooded area of Bedford, a short distance from route 101-west. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area, officials said.

The plane left Claremont airport at 7:30 last night on a flight to Beverly, Mass. Concord Airport Tuesday night was notified the plane was heading toward Concord. The pilot gave no reason for the change of course, airport officials said.

Expect U. N. Approval On Weapon Spread

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's top political committee was expected to give overwhelming approval today to a U.S.-Soviet appeal to all nations to refrain from any action that might help spread nuclear weapons.

Informed sources predicted the East-West proposal would poll almost unanimous support in the 121-nation committee, with only Albania voting no and France probably abstaining.

Kripplebush

KRIPPLEBUSH — Laymen's Sunday will be observed in the Stone Ridge Methodist Parish Nov. 6 Guest speaker at the Stone Ridge Church 11:15 a.m. will be William Cravin of Grace Methodist Church. There will be no church services in Kripplebush. Church school will be held 10:10 a.m.

The Rev. Bruce Carlson will be on vacation from Nov. 2 to Nov. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Haener Jr., and family and Mrs. Irwin Barley were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lyons Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Redelberger and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ernst visited friends in Warwick recently.

Note Agency Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post says negotiations are under way to shift programs aimed at creating jobs for the poor from the antipoverty agency to the Labor Department.

The paper quoted Bertrand M. Harding, deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity as saying the move is "no power play on anyone's part," and would not jeopardize the antipoverty agency.

Other unidentified OEO officials, said the Post, see the proposal as leading to dismemberment of OEO.

The Labor Department now programs such as the Neighborhood Youth Corps. A switch of more programs was seen by the Post as blunting some thought that the new Department of Housing and Urban Development would eventually become chief antipoverty agency.

Man Killed in Crash

BREWERTON, N.Y. (AP) — Robert E. Dennis, 49, of Central Square, was killed Tuesday in a two-car collision on Route 37, near this central New York State community.

Menotti Opera at New Paltz; Will Feature Boris Goldovsky in Lecture-Recital Format

Boris Goldovsky, whose seminars in performance have produced a generation of American actor-singers of opera, will appear with a soprano, mezzo-soprano and baritone at State University College Theater, New Paltz Saturday evening, Nov. 5, to present "The Telephone" by Menotti, and scenes from Hindemith and Mozart operas.

The lecture-recital, the fourth in the College's all-day "Festival of the Arts," is open without charge to Mid-Hudson residents.

The Goldovsky performance will present a unique opportunity to compare two widely different approaches to operatic performance. Mr. Goldovsky, who first earned a musical reputation as pianist became interested in opera in his maturity.

However, he was appalled at productions which seemed to violate every rule of good theatrical practice.

In succeeding years he has devoted all his efforts to the production of operas to emphasize good acting as well as good singing and to clarify plots of operas which are often considered superficial or even nonsensical.

His success has been enormous, and he has occupied such influential posts as opera director at Tanglewood and the New England Conservatory of Music. Young singers under his tutelage are gradually awakening the public to the appreciation of opera as a pleasurable experience.

Mr. Goldovsky's program at New Paltz will include scenes from three Mozart operas, a scene from Hindemith's "Mathis der Maler," and the complete performance of "The Telephone."

Tickets for all sessions of the Festival may be obtained at the College Union Building.

Other scheduled events for the day include a performanec by Jose Limon and his dance Company in the afternoon, and lectures earlier by Alan Schneider, Broadway director, and George Boas, esthetics philosopher and fine arts historian.

Reserved seats not occupied 10 minutes before each performance will be made available to those without tickets for each performance.

The Right Thing To Do

WITH CHRISTMAS COMING, IT'S TIME TO CONSIDER CARDS

We are all thinking of Christmas and the time is coming to make lists, address cards, wrap presents and so on. Here are some questions about Christmas cards which are asked frequently. Do you know the answers?

If one receives a card from a tradesman or salesman, he must send one in return. True —— False ——

2. A widow whose husband died since the previous Christmas may send cards. True —— False ——

3. Cards should not be sent to a person recently bereaved. True —— False ——

4. Pictures of family or children make appropriate Christmas cards. True —— False ——

5. Cards sent to strictly business acquaintances are sent to the man at his office rather than to Mr. and Mrs. at the home address. True —— False——

6. If the signatures on the card are handwritten, the last name is always omitted. True —— False——

7. When the signature is printed, the wife's name is always first. True —— False ——

8. Children's names may be included in either handwritten or printed signatures. True —— False ——

9. Colored ink is correct for Christmas cards.

10. Return addresses are correct on card envelopes. True —— False ——

1. False. Cards should only be sent as expressions of friendship, and cards from tradespeople are truthfully, simply a business proposition.

2. True. She should choose a religious card or one with a serious message rather than a gay or silly motif.

3. False. Sincere greetings may be a great comfort to a bereaved person.

4. True. Especially when sent to people far away.

5. True.

6. False. Except to close friends, it is better to include the last name. Friends looking at the cards also may not recognize first names only.

7. False. It is a matter of personal preference. The last name is always printed, however.

8. True. In fact, a new arrival may be announced in this way.

9. True.

10. This used to be considered incorrect, but as a practical matter, it is a help both to the post office and the receiver of the card, therefore acceptable.

Inspection of Imported Meats

Assuring consumers that imported meats are healthful is quite a large undertaking. In 1965, U. S. Department of Agriculture's inspectors examined more than 963 million pounds of meat and meat products sent to us from more than 30 countries. Products passing inspection were released for entry; those not, and this included around 8 million pounds in 1965, were either re-exported or destroyed under government supervision.

While the Federal meat inspection mark does not usually appear on imported meats in retail stores, consumers can rely on the whilesomeness of the products, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. U.S. Customs officials hold all shipments of meats in custody until Federal inspectors have checked on safety for consumption, freedom from adultration, and proper labeling. Products are released for distribution only after inspection clearance.

Consumers will find that retail stores carry well known imported canned products as hams, beacon, sausage, corned beef, luncheon meat, liver pate, and frankfurters, along with such specialties as cabbage rolls with meat or beef sukiyaki, and such dried, cured products as salami. Much of the imported fresh and frozen meat goes to processors for later use in frankfurters, canned soups and baby foods, and other consumer products.

Before offering meats for entry, importers must send ahead and have approval on both labels and descriptions of product ingredients and processing methods. Too, the slaughtering house and processing plants in the country of origin must have been approved as having sanitation and handling procedures comparable to those required by our own Federal inspection laws.

After the certified meats arrive at numerous points of entry around the United States, including New York City, Albany, and Buffalo, Federal inspectors check on safety for consumption. They select a 5 per cent sample of each product and check the sample visually for wholesomeness. They note such things as whether cut pieces of salami appear adequately dry or whether cans of ham bulge or otherwise look unsound.

Federal meat inspection laws governing composition of meat food products apply to the imported. In a few cases when a product is well known in its country of origin but little known here, it is assumed that the American consumer would expect the product to be like that of its native country. But in general the Federal composition laws apply to assure consumers of receiving a familiar product.

As with meats processed in this country, the imported product must be labeled with its true name, net weight, and name and address of the manufacturer or packer. Ingredients must be listed in decreasing order by weight if the product is made from two or more ingredients and has no standard of identity. For imported meats, the country of origin must be shown immediately below the name of the product. Products labeled in foreign language must also be labeled with a complete English translation.

B'nai B'rith Girls Plan Gift Campaign For Viet Servicemen

The B'nai B'rith Girls of Kingston have made known their plea for the community of Kingston to help them send packages over to Viet Nam. Mr. Robert L. Riddell, executive director of the USO at Times Square in New York City, has granted permission to Judy Abelove, vice president of the group and chairman of the campaign, to forward as many packages as possible in the name of B'nai B'rith and the city of Kingston to Viet Nam by Nov. 15.

Miss Abelove has stated that letters to Joe Walters, director of USO, Saigon and Sam Anderson, executive director of USO operations in Viet Nam in Cameron Bay, were sent by Nov. 1 to aware them of the coming shipment.

Ask Community Support

In order to meet this large promise made by the B'nai B'rith Girls, they ask for the direct support by the community of Kingston's students, religious organizations, clubs, citizens, and merchants to donate appropriate articles during Nov. 1-15, which would be welcomed by our men. These items, some suggested from articles in The Freeman and other publications, are: homemade cookies, candies, nuts, peanut brittle, all in vacuum cans, combs, bubble gum, writing paper with self-seal envelopes, packaged sauces such as ketchup and tobasco, paperback books, playing cards, money clips, flashlights, magazines, magnetic chess or checkers sets, Chinese puzzles, presweetened powdered drinks, white cotton socks, and toilet articles, etc.

Will Solicit

Many girls of high school age, connected with B'nai B'rith, will be involved in this project and wearing identification will solicit area merchants and citizens. They have already received the support of a local 4-H Club, called the Little Women of Washington Avenue, who will aid in packaging the hoped-for and needed responses from the community. Also extremely necessary will be the collection of monies to cover expensive postage services from Kingston to San Francisco. All donations and the names of donators will be recorded and sent to the city historian. The girls request calling after six, the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane.

Almost 80

The Ulster County Community Chest campaign has reached a total of $225,562, or 75.2 per cent, it was announced today.

With a goal of $299,600, $74,038 is still to be raised.

Charles Raible, campaign chairman said, of the 26 sections of the campaign, only 8 are over 100 per cent of quota so there is sufficient potential to raise the entire amount and every effort will be made to do so. The campaign started Oct. 1 and will continue until completed and thereby provide the 13 agencies with the necessary funds for 1967. A special task force is following up on all accounts in the county-chest area to provide everyone the opportunity to give.

He expressed appreciation to all who have cooperated in the campaign thus far and asked that any person or business who has not contributed to send in their pledge to the Chest office in the Governor Clinton Hotel. This includes the City of Kingston and the towns of Esopus, Hurley, Kingston, Marbletown, New Paltz, Rosendale, Saugerties and Ulster. No money is necessary now. Payments can be monthly or quarterly in 1967," Raible added.

Eight new books, received this week by the Kingston Public Library, are now available for lending, library officials said. The books include:

"The Early Life of Stephen Hind," fiction by Storm Jameson, exploring the universal need to modify history through a young man scheming his way through a world he wishes he had been born to and of an old man, endlessly rewriting memoirs to be published 50 years after his death.

"Death Shall Overcome," fiction by Emma Lathern, telling of John Putnam Thatcher, full time financier and part time sleuth who joins civil rights picket lines in pursuit of a blue-chip murderer.

"In God We Trust, All Others Pay Cash," fiction by Jean Shepherd, in which the popular humorist writes of adolescense in the mid-thirties and through his hero, Everyman, describes the agonies of the day.

"The Pedlar," fiction by William Stevens. Describing the angles and machinations of business negotiations in ruthless market places in New York.

"Spy in the Ointment," fiction by D. E. Westlake, in which J. Eugene Rexford, dedicated pacifist, is caught between the FBI and a gang of killers bent on destroying some United Nations personnel.

"Tree Frog," fiction by Martin Wodehouse facing a cynical young doctor, working for British Intelligence, with the impossible task of convincing the communists that a pilotless, fiberglass plane is undetectable by radar, can cruise for great distances and has unlimited potential.

"Ess, Ess, Mein Kindt," non-fiction, by Harry Golden, who comments on a myriad of topics about the American and Jewish scene.

Financial and Commercial

In early dealings it looked as if the market was mounting a genuine assault on the Sept. 15 recovery high.

By noon, however, the gains were erased for the over-all market even though certain areas of strength remained.

Among these were aerospace issues, electrical equipments and a wide range of selected stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at .96.8 with industrials up .7, rails off .3 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 2.29 at 807.34. Earlier it showed a gain of 2.56.

Boeing, up a couple of points, continued to pace the aerospace group. General Dynamics, United Aircraft and Douglas Aircraft were fractional gainers.

General Electric maintained a gain of about 2 points. Westinghouse Electric (ex dividend) and Du Pont were up about a point.

Dinner to Honor Ex-Ellenville Hospital Heads

The men who served as president of Veterans Memorial Hospital since its establishment in 1924 will be among those honored at the first annual dinner of the Ellenville Community Hospital. The event is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 20, at the Homowack Lodge, Spring Lake.

According to Harry Rieger, co-chairman of the dinner committe, posthumous tributes will be paid M. E. Clark, Emory T. Terbush and William L. Douglas, whose services as presidents of the hospital spanned the period from 1924 to 1944. Rieger expressed the hope that a member of the family of each of the deceased past presidents would be on hand to accept a plaque, commemorating his service to the community.

The Hospital Board of Directors will also honor with plaques C. Denman Raymond who served as president 1945-1946 and Robert V. Stapleton who served from 1947 to 1953.

"We are very much aware," Rieger said "of the tremendous expenditures of selfless efforts which are and always have been required of hospital leadership. We believe that there should be public recognition of this service to the community and to humanity through the hospital. We have chosen the first annual program of the Ellenville Community Hospital for this public recognition. We hope that public support of this event will be a further tribute to these gentlemen living and dead, who actively sought the 'best possible patient care for all' of our community."

Johnson Promises

at Elmendorf Air Force Base, five miles out of the city, at 11:36 p.m. AST — 4:36 a.m. EST.

"It has been the most rewarding, the most thrilling, the most encouraging journey of my life. I believe it may also have been the most important and the most historic."

Voice of Hostility

Recalling that he had said on departing Washington that he expected no miracles at the Manila conference of Viet Nam allies, Johnson said that the only message heard yet from the Communists has been "the voice of renewed hostility."

He said that "until that voice changes — until the Communists realize they cannot win this war — there will be no miracle of peace in Viet Nam."

With all this, he said, Manila did produce "a meeting of mind and spirit" that may yet have great significance.

After the meeting, Johnson is to take off for a nonstop flight to Washington, where his arrival at Dulles International Airport at 8 p.m. EST will be televised live across the nation.

Looked Fresh, Rested

The President looked fresh and rested despite the strains of the tiring trip. He said an ebullient farewell at the close of his three-day state visit to South Korea, then climbed into his special plane, Air Force One, with Mrs. Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and White House officials.

Before leaving Korea, Johnson and President Chung Hee Park signed a farewell communique which promised to keep U.S. forces in Korea at their present level of 50,000, laid a wreath at the National Assembly, and made brief goodby remarks at the airport where a girls' chorus sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas" in Korean.

In his talk to the Korean Assembly — the last major pronouncement of the Asian trip — Johnson said he had "listened and learned much on this trip" from many things, including "the solid agreement we found among allies at the Manila conference." But he added that "difficult days lie ahead of us in Viet Nam" and that peace will not come there until the Communists change their mind about fighting.

In 16 days, Johnson has traveled 25,000 miles to seven countires, the state of Hawaii and American Samoa, in the South Seas.

Survey Indicates

There has been no official British reaction to Manila, but privately officials in London have hailed Johnson's efforts in Asian diplomacy, mainly for encouragement to Asians to join in setting up their own defense system.

The magazine Economist commented: "Before any stable system could be built around the periphery of China it was necessary for the United States to show that it was in earnest. Whatever verdict history eventually passes on Mr. Johnson's policy in Viet Nam, he has shown that the United States is as willing to exert its influence in Asia as it is in Europe."

Wicks Vols to Meet

At the regular monthly meeting of members of A. H. Wicks Truck and Engine Company Thursday 8 p. m. at the engine house, the Dinner Committee for the 25th anniversary dinner will make a report. It is requested that all members attend this meeting. Other important business will also come before the meeting.

Council Rejects

abandoned Senate parking lot said: "I am appealing to my colleagues on behalf of the Kingston Uptown business men. I repeat what I said at the last Common Council meeting: The Senate lot means life or death to them. Their sales have declined considerably since the closing of the lot.

"Today, business without parking facilities cannot exist. A bulk of our tax structure is contributed by the Kingston Uptown business men.

"If the lack of parking facilities were to become a factor in several Uptown mecrchants closing their doors, this would indeed be a sad, sad day for the city. I know that the business men are depending on you aldermen, so please gentlemen don't let them down."

Test of two-way traffic on Clinton Avenue between John and Pearl Streets and on the latter from Clinton to Washington Avenue would be for 60 days. Majority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward proposed effective publicizing and posting of the test. No left turns are to be permitted at Pearl Street and Clinton Avenue.

Alderman Epstein asked that the Kingston Housing Authority settle its contract dispute so that the Rondout Gardens project could be started. The general contract and two others have been approved, but the low bid by the ERA Electric Construction Corp., has not been approved because of a dispute mainly involving the KHA and Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

A letter from ERA to Mayor Garraghan citing the company's cause was read at the session.

At its October meeting the council voted down a request for 14 members of the City of Kingston Laboratory staff to attend training sessions and it was indicated last night that they had attended at their own expense.

Another committee report made it possible for the counsel to authorize reimbursement for attendance at the sessions, but after confusing discussion and voting on the report a 7-6 vote for adjournment precluded final action on it.

Alderman Sinsabaugh held that such belated action on the measure was illegal and could set a precedent that would bring trouble in the future.

Shown on the map of the proposed John F. Kennedy Park which is to be developed with federal and state aid, are a large marina, marine and yacht lagoons, playgrounds and game courts, picnic areas, a beach and a nautical museum. The design is by Planning Associates, of Hempstead, and is on display at the city engineer's office.

Urban Transit, in its letter requesting reduction or cancellation of its $1,500 annual franchise tax, noted that three years ago it had acquired the bus service from the Kingston City Transportation Corp., and in the time it has been operating has found it "hard to make ends meet." It was signed by Julius Lipton, president of UTC and said a "substantial reduction" of the tax would help.

Left in committee were Mayor Garraghan's proposed changes in city departments and establishment of a new parking lot near City Hall. He proposed moving city court to the Municipal Auditorium, the water department to present city court quarters, and offices of the corporation counsel and Municipal Civil Service Commission in present water department space. The proposed new water department office would have a drive-in window.

Alderman Howard proposed that before action is taken on the proposal to make the 10th Ward a rehabilitation area that all residents of the ward be given an opportunity to meet and discuss plans in that direction.

John Kivi, 21 Golf Terrace, and Joseph S. Thurin, 119 Emerson Street, have been included in a list of 272 state candidates successful in the latest Certified Public Accountancy examination. One Dutchess County man, Philip Joseph Gibbons, Hudson Drive, Hyde Park, is also included on the list.

Defense Promises Different One For Dr. Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The prosection calls more witnesses today in the murder retrial of Samuel H. Sheppard, whose counsel has promised a defense sharply different from the one at the first trial 12 years ago.

Convicted of second-degree murder in 1954, Sheppard spent nine years in prison, maintaining he was innocent and that a bushy-haired stranger beat his first wife to death in the bedroom of their lakefront home.

In the new trial ordered last June 6 by the U.S. Supreme Court and now in its second week, a new defense approach was promised in the opening statement of F. Lee Bailey of Boston, chief defense attorney.

He said evidence would show "this was no strange intruder" but "someone who had a key for some time" to the big frame house in Bay Village which the jury visited Tuesday to view the scene of the crime.

Production Ceases At Westinghouse Plant

The line was established by more than 20 members of the Independent American Flint Glass Workers Union, who struck Westinghouse's electronic-tube producing plant in Bath Monday. Bath is about 30 miles from this community, a suburb of Elmira.

The Horseheads workers are members of the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW). They were to vote later today on a contract proposal.

About 600 glass workers walked out at Bath when their three-year contract expired. Union-management negotiations were to resume this afternoon.

Union sources said the chief issue was wage differentials between those at Bath and similar Westinghouse plants elsewhere.

Mishaps Injure Three

Three persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps Tuesday. Khin M. Than, 33, of 103 St. James Street, driver of one car in a collision at Maiden Lane and Albany Avenue, at 7:55 p. m. reported neck and head injuries, and C. Christa Than, 38, of the same address suffered whiplash. She was X-rayed at Kingston Hospital and he was treated by a doctor. Officer Kenneth Radel, who investigated, said the other car was driven by George C. Davis, of 96 Bruyn Avenue. Douglas C. Echdish, 17, of 132 West Chestnut Street, driver of a motorcycle, was treated at Kingston Hospital for foot and leg injuries, after a mishap on Broadway at Field Court, at 3:55 p. m. when the cycle and a car operated by Dale VanGasbeek, 17, of 78 Maiden Lane collided. Officers Raymond Wells and Anthony Turck investigated.

Held in Car Theft

Gary John Henderson, 19, of Star Route, Sidney, was arrested in Kingston Tuesday night by BCI Investigator Fred Grunewald of the Kingston substation of State Police. He was committed to the county jail pending his return to Sidney for prosecution on a larceny charge. Trooper David Wachtel said an alarm had been sent out by State Police at Sidney for the apprehension of the youth, who was accused of stealing a 1965 Mustang owned by Alice Maddale of Sidney.

World-Traveled Marine Returns To Kingston Duty

A Mt. Marion Marine Sergeant who traveled the world with the Corps from Haiti to Japan, recently returned to Ulster County as assistant Marine recruiter at the Main Post Office, Broadway.

Sgt. James C. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Wilson Sr. of 1 Town Road, Mt. Marion, enlisted in the Marine Corps in April of 1961. He attended Kingston High School.

After completing Marine basic training at Parris Island, S. C., and advanced infantry training at Camp LeJeune, N. C., where he was trained as a field wireman, he recieved orders to the 1st Marine Corps Air Wing in Japan.

Sgt. Wilson volunteered for five months duty in Viet Nam, returning in August of 1963. Since then he has visited such places as Assan Juan and Vieques, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, British West Indies and Jamaica.

In January of 1965 Sgt. Wilson returned to Viet Nam with the 3rd Marine Division and served as a wire team leader installing field telephone equipment. He returned from Viet Nam in January.

Sgt. Wilson re-enlisted at Camp Lejeune Aug. 22, and put in a request for recruiting duty in Kingston. According to the sergeant, he received "about $2,100" for re-upping for the four-year hitch.

Korean Reds . . .

Communist-Made Shells

The U.N. Command announcement said:

"Expended shell casings in the area from which the ambush was launched were Communist-made.

"Search patrols discovered the wounded man and the slain soldiers.

"All of the dead and wounded were assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division. Their identities will be released after notification of next of kin."

It was the most serious of a series of North Korean attacks that began after Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. The U.N. Command demanded an immediate meeting of the Military Armistice Commission to take up the ambush and "other serious violations of the armistice agreement."

No Americans were involved in 10 previous incidents that began along the armistice line on Oct. 15. Several South Korean soldiers were killed.

The recent increase in North Korean attacks along the armistice line led some observers in Seoul to think the Communists were trying to apply pressure on the South Koreans to resist American requests for more troops in Viet Nam. South Korea now has approximately 45,000 troops fighting alongside U.S. forces there.

City Court Cases

Two defendants were sentenced today in city court and an assult charge was referred to family court. Junior Thomas Cromer, 21, of Ellenville, booked recently on a charge dealing with substitution in the taking of a motor vehicle test, was fined $50 plus revocation of his license. Another Ellenville resident, booked on a like charge, was treated as a youthful offender. Joseph Madden, 58, who police said has no home, was charged with petit larceny for theft of meat and cheese from the Governor Clinton Market Tuesday. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. Edward Brown, 22, of 168 Downs Street, charged with third degree assault by his wife, Gloria, is to be heard in family court. John Lang, 18, of 15 Browning Terrace, booked on an inadequate muffler charge, paid $5.

Spreading $1000 Over Shorter Term Stocks

Q) "With a child ready for college in four years, we'd like to know how to invest $1,000. Should we consider your recommendations of last winter—Avon Products, Corn Products, Georgia-Pacific and Texaco for reasonable cost and growth?"—R. S.

A) Yes, these long-term growth issues are still in favor with families accumulating educational funds. Purchased at current levels, they should show considerable rebound vigor, once the primary trend reverses itself.

However, with your time limit of four years when cash will be needed, may I say that you are looking for intermediate rather than long-term growth? So my suggestions are geared to that considerattion. I recomend your $1,000 into two or three equal parts, using each for the maximum shares it will buy of one stock. Avon or Texaco, being higher priced, might serve as one of three. Supplementing recent column selections are the following lower-priced issues in other industries: Calgon (water purification), Howard Johnson, Public Service of Colorado, Talon and Will Ross, a hospital supply company traded over the counter.

Q) "Although I'm only 15, I have already bought about $1,000 worth of stocks: seven Anaconda, six In land Steel and five American Telephone. Should I keep these? I'm looking for growth and a good-sized dividend."—J. N.

A) As I've stated before, good-sized dividends are not usually declared by corporations intent on fast growth. Earnings go into research and development, plant expansion and other promotional expenses . I don't know your percentage of return, but using current price levels and indicatet divends for 1966, AT&T yields arcund four per cet and the other two better than six per cent. I call these good-sized payouts. Furthermore, your companies have followed a policy of boosting the dividend as earnings have risen. I would not disturb these holdings, but because Anaconda and Inland Steel tend to show cyclical characteristics, I would follow the news closely on copper and steel developments.

Schwenk Will Support Fish

Former Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced his unqualified endorsement of Hamilton Fish Jr., for Congress. In elaborating on his endorsement Schwenk stated "I feel especially compelled to support this year's Republican Candidate for Congress, Ham Fish Jr., because he offers plausable approaches and solutions to the pressing issues and problems of the day. He represents the Republican party in its finest tradition and offers an opportunity to stem the tide of government by public relations and federal edict under which we are now living.

It appears to me that the entire country is suffering from an oppressive overwhelming majority in Congress which is in turn 'led by the hand' under the direction of a President whose Judgment, to say the least, has been questionable. The result is obvious to all of us when we view Big Government use of taxpayer's funds to force certain programs to buy votes; when the artificial boom created by this administration which has now galloped headlong into inflation and destroyed confidence in American Business is casually termed 'prosperity;' when law and order are brushed aside; when our citizens are menaced by assaults from all directions and the administration in Washington tells us 'we never had it so good.' We are fighting a big war in a small country which this administration tells us we cannot win before many more years have passed and more thousands of lives are lost and destroyed.

This Congressional District is a prime example of the evils I mention. We are constantly exposed to headlines claiming that the 'Federal Government' is doing something for us and proclaiming the number of dollars that will supposedly be spent. I say that no decent citizen in this district should allow his vote to be bought in such a manner.

A vote for Ham Fish Jr., will send a fine young man to Washington and will halt the abuses being shaped upon us by the government.

Hamilton Fish's election will put a vote in Congress against the invasion of law abiding citizen's rights; against buying votes through public funds and in favor of stabilizing the economy; and will put us on the road to taking positive steps at home and abroad to correct our domestic problems and foreign failures."

No structures were damaged, but early in the day a wall of flames was halted at Olive View Hospital, where most of 600 tubercular patients were evacuated. Also evacuated were 450 patients of a veterans administration hospital in the same area.

The men who died were backed up against a rocky cliff, in the process of cutting aline around a hot spot. One of the survivors said the flames "made a flash run up the hill."

Early in the day, a Nike base was threatened, but the flames failed to reach this installation or either of the two hospitals. The veterans hospital moved its patients back during the evening.

Speeding Up Cadet Course for Manpower

"In anticipation of the stepped-up graduation date," McLintock said, "plans were made in August so that the graduating class could get all required work by the early graduation date.

Army Plays Geo. Washington Saturday in Final Home Tilt

Twelve seniors, including All-America hopeful Townsend Clarke will make the final home appearance of their careers Saturday as Army entertains George Washington at Michie Stadium. Game time is 2 o'clock.

This will be only the second meeting between the schools. Army won the initial contest, 14-0, in 1962 at District of Columbia Stadium.

The Colonials from Washington, D. C. will bring a 4-3 record to West Point. They lost their first three games but have capured their last four.

Army's victory train ground to a halt last Saturday at Memphis as Tennessee won, 38-7. The Cadets are 5-2 and will have only California and Navy remaining after Sautrday's tilt.

Four Straight Wins

George Washington, coached by Jim Camp, was beaten by Davidson, Virginia Tech and William and Mary in its first three starts. Since then, victories have been recorded over The Citadel, East Carolina, VMI and Furman. The latest one was by a 49-28 score.

Clarke, labeled by many the top linebacker in the east, sat out the Tennessee game with a bad ankle. He was replaced by sophomore Ken Johnson of Newburgh and he came through in fine style. If Clarke's ankle doesn't respond to treatment, Johnson will start against the Colonials.

The other doubtful Cadet starter is halfback Claude Herman. The senior from Chattanooga injured his ribs Saturday and may be sidelined. If so, Carl Worssner or Don Parmeter are the likely replacements.

Sophomore quarterback Steve Lindell continues to show improvement. He hit on 11 of 23 passes for 154 yards against Tennessee, one of the completions going for a tourchdown. His main targets are ends Terry Young and Gary Steele. Young has caught 23 and Steele has 18 receptions.

Elated Over Kicking

Cahill, who is nearing the homestretch of his first season as head coach, is elated over the kicking of Ron Wasilewski, sophomore from Mt. Carmel, Pa. He averaged 43.7 yards a punt against the Vols and his mark for the season on 28 kicks is 41.1.

The Army defense, hard taxed by the Volunteer passing attack, will see a lot of pass defense during practices this week.

On defense, the Colonials are led by end Norm Neverson and tackle Ken Doyen, a junior from White Plains.

There are several tickets still to be sold for the game and they may be purchased at the Army Athletic Assn. office.

Teams to Meet This Saturday In Headliner

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Seeking a second straight UCAL grid title, unbeaten Highland travels to Stone Ridge Saturday to battle the troublesome Ganders of Rondout Valley. The contest highlights area action over the weekend.

Coach Lem Atkin's Southern Ulster eleven has rolled over six straight opponents this season and has recorded 15 victories and a pair of ties in its last 17 starts, dating back to the middle of the 1964 season.

Highland has already clinched a tie for the championship and has to beat either Rondout this week or Wallkill next Friday to win the crown outright.

In Battle for Second

The Ganders are in a three way scramble for second place with Onteora and Liberty and are coming off a pair of impressive victories. Coach Chick Meehan's thin (22 players) squad has done much better than expected but figures to have its hands full stopping one the league's best offenses and moving the ball against a rugged defense.

Highland is led by quarterback Greg Cappillino, a good signal caller and a passing threat and halfback Mark Morano, the most feared runner in the circuit. He has gained more than 100 yards in five of the six games played by his club.

On defense, the Highlanders have posted three shutouts in six starts. They have been scored on twice by Pine Bush, twice by New Paltz and once by Onteora. Whitewashes have been recorded against Saugerties, Marlboro and Liberty.

Rondout, after losing its first two games, has rebounded to post three victories in four starts. The running of Chuck Elston and a deft quarterbacking job by sophomore John Meehan Jr. have been instrumental in the surge.

The defense has surrendered only one touchdown in the last two starts and has been improving each time out.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

A classic example of overzealous high school coaches taking the football game away from the kids was clearly visible—except to th officials—in the bruising UCAL brawl between Onteora and Pine Bush last Saturday at Boiceville.

The officials' crew headed by John Kurachek of Newburgh obviously was too deeply involved keeping track of fumbles, stolen balls, blocked kicks, et al to notice the goings on in front of the Pine Bush bench. We were there to see them and, frankly, they were a bit disgusting.

We do not quarrel with the right of coaches to consult with their quarterbacks. But when the afternoon is taken up with cajoling, screaming and shouting at players, incessantly barking signals and instructions, then to us high school football is something apart from what we've known.

It's the responsibility of the officials to keep overeager sideline quarterbacks outside the restraining lines. If they don't see the infractions or don't penalize them, coaching staffs so inclined can get away with murder. There was at least one Pine Bush coach inside the field lines most of the game and one, two and three at a time on other occasions.

The prospect of "Little Pine Bush" beating "big Onteora" sent passions soaring on the east side of the Boiceville gridiron, But there must be a point when the price for any victory is too high.

The day was not without its humorous side. Two of the Pine Bush gentlemen suggested we get the hades off the sidelines. Seems somebody in the visiting delegation had us tabbed as a "Marlboro spy."

To keep the record straight, the gentlemen did apoligize before the afternoon was over.

• Wood You Believe It?

The tale begins several years ago, on the day the rules committee of the NCAA decided to widen the goal posts to 26 feet. University reaction to the intended change was indifferent, except from a small college in Washington.

"Please don't enact this rule," pleaded the president of a small college in a letter to the NCAA. "We've searched through all the lumber yards in town, and the widest 2x4 we can find is 24 feet."

So the rules committee went back into session and came out again with a decision that compiled with the request. They figured it was about time somebody did something for the nation's small colleges.

Spurrier Picked As Back of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steve Spurrier's right arm still is Florida's most valuable football property, but the Gators are cashing in on his right foot too.

The Florida quarterback, who completed 27 passes against Auburn last Saturday before kicking a 40-yard field goal that gave the unbeaten Gators a 30-27 victory, was named The Associated Press' Back of the Week today for the second time this season.

Spurrier passed for 259 yards and a touchdown, ran for another score, punted five times for a 46-yard average and booted the winning field goal with two minutes to play.

In leading the Gators to seven straight victories, the versatile senior has hit on 117 of 177 pass attempts — a 66 per cent completion percentage — for 1,397 yards and 14 touchdowns.

"I can't award Steven the Heisman Trophy," says Florida Coach Ray Graves, "but if I could I'd give him two of them. He is absolutely the greatest clutch athlete I've ever seen."

Spurrier Leading College Passers

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Spurrier, Florida's brilliant quarterback, has taken over the passing offense lead among the nation's major - college football players, statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today.

Jutze ran for two touchdowns, passed for one and kicked two points after touchdown in the Olue Devils' 45-24 triumph.

Cincinnati Seen As 17th Team In Pro Football

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — With awarding of the National Football League's 16th franchise to New Orleans, former pro coach Paul Brown set out today to get an American League team for Cincinnati.

And Pete Rozelle, the NFL head boss who will become commissioner of the merged National and American leagues in 1970, indicated Cincinnati has the inside track for the new AFL team, scheduled to begin play in 1968.

Brown, ex-coach of the NFL Cleveland Browns, said in Cleveland Tuesday night that "I believe we can have the franchise for 1968 if assurance is given that a new stadium (in Cincinnati) will be ready in time," he added.

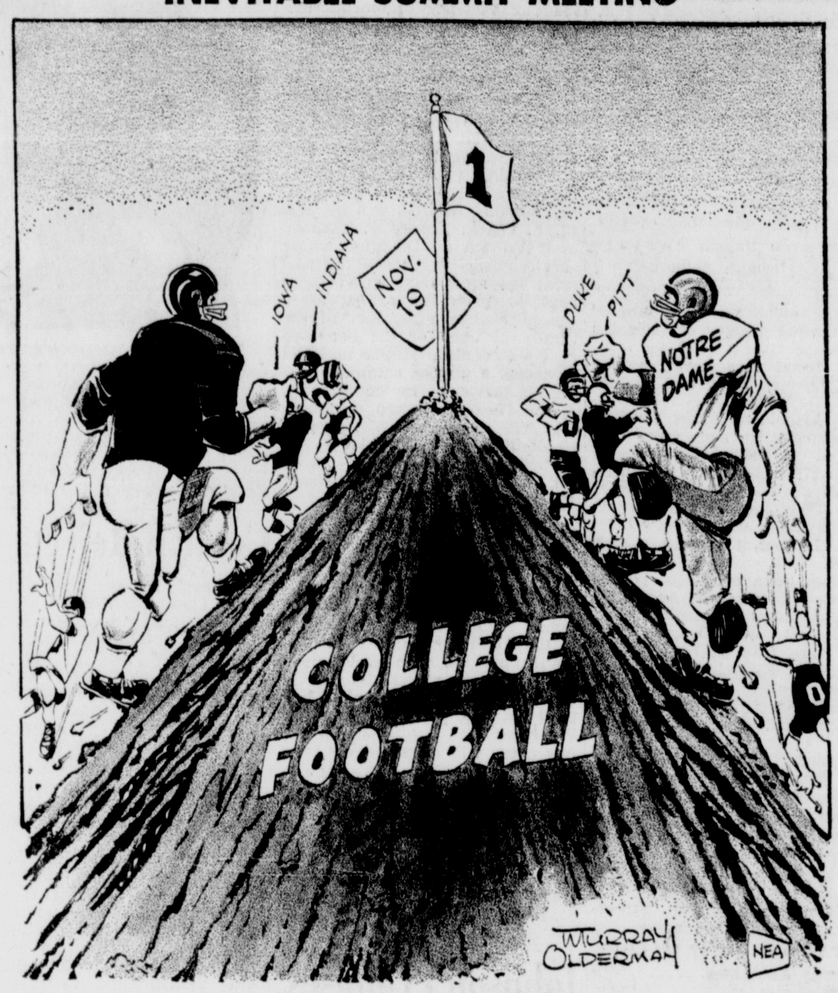

Brown had sought the NFL franchise for Cincinnati.

Another group that had been seeking the NFL team indicated it also would be interested in an AFL team. That group is headed by John Wiethe, a former University of Cincinnati basketball coach.

Announcement of awarding of the new AFL team is expected soon, Rozelle said Tuesday by telephone from New Orleans.

Hopkins Returns

Ulster Harriers Top Rockland Club, 20-37

The U.C.C.C. harriers will oppose Sullivan Community College on the Kingston course tomorrow.

"I was encouraged by our showing against the Rockland team," said Coach Dick Glazer. "We had a strong team effort that was highly gratifying."

Sets Record

Winning the race yesterday was Russ Karbonen, of Rockland, who was clocked in 20 minutes, 59 seconds, a new record for the Kingston course. The previous record of 21 minutes, 3 seconds, had been set last year by Hopkins.

Finishing behind Karbonen were five U.C.C.C. runners. John Roettger was second in 21 minutes, 36 seconds; Hopkins was third in 22 minutes, 25 seconds; John Sullivan was fourth in 22 minutes, 47seconds; Ron Lindsay was fifth in 23 minutes, 11 seconds, and Dave Loper was sixth in 23 minutes, 28 seconds.

George McGowar, of Rockland, was seventh in 23 minutes, 36 seconds, and John Loconi, of Rockland was eighth in 23 minutes, 43 seconds. Brian Elmendorf, of Ulster, was clocked in 23 minutes, 58 seconds to finish ninth.

Pat Priest, Rich Johnson, Mike Kelly and Fred Kantrowitz, all of Rockland, finished 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th respectively. Joe O'Brien, of U.C.C.C. was 14th.

"This was Barry Sullivan's first outing since his bout with illness," said Coach Glazer. "He did surprisingly well considering his layoff, and we're hoping he'll improve on his time against Sullivan Community College tomorrow."

Alabama, Georgia Tech Picked in Key Contests

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's hoping for a quick recovery from the worst weekend of the season with 18 losses among the 56 games that reached a decision for a paltry .679 average.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Broadway betting gentry says Michigan State will win by 28 points. The Spartans are that good, too.

UCLA over Washington: Gary Beban of the Bruins rates as one of the three top quarterbacks of the season and the Huskies have no one who can match him.

Nebraska over Kansas: The Huskers not only are big but they also are fast, agile, talented, determined and very, very good.

Florida over Georgia: Steve Spurrier continues Florida's last-quarter magic at the expense of the once-beaten Bulldogs, whose only defeat was a 7-6 setback in the mud at Miami.

Arkansas over Rice: This is Jess Neely's final year as coach at Rice and the season becomes more sad every Saturday.

Southern California over California: Everybody mentions the Trojan offense but their defense has allowed only 40 points in seven games. California has allowed 143.

Tennessee over Chattanooga: Not in the same league.

Harvard over Princeton: Bobby Leo and Vic Gatto provide the Crimson with the best running attaek in the Ivy League.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boilermarkers, beaten only by Notre Dame and Michigan Stae,, want that trip to the Rose Bowl. Bob Griese to show them the way.

Garrett Rated Top Candidate For Rookie Star

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mike Garrett of Kansas City, a great instinctive runner who started on the sandlots of Los Angeles, has established himself as a top candidate for 'Rookie of the Year in the American Football League.

At the same time, he is destroying the myth that Heisman Trophy winners can't make good in pro ball. In eight games he has scored six touchdowns, four of them on runs of 79, 77, 61 and 42 yards.

His seven-yard rushing average is best in the AFL and he is the league's No. 4 rusher with 405 yards. He does something no other man in the top 10 rushers is doing — returning kickoffs and punts full time. He also catches passes, throws them well and is an excellent blocker.

"Without doubt, he is most deserving of Rookie of the Year honors," said Coach Hank Stram. "He has made a tremendous contribution."

"There was a mistaken idea I was a little scatback or something," Garrett said. "I never doubted that I could make it. I'm strong and I play at about 200 pounds although I'm 5-foot-9. None of it is fat."

"On a lot of plays I'm still on my feet when I'm stopped."

In five categories, Garrett has gained 771 yards on 85 plays, or 9.1 yards every time he has touched the ball.

At Southern California, he gained 3,221 yards rushing in three years, an NCAA career record.

Pick Larry Wilson For Good Defense

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody who watched the St. Louis-Chicago game Monday night knows the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League has to be Larry Wilson, the Cards' free safety.

It was the sixth straight game in which the seven-year veter an from Utah had intercepted at least one pass. The NFL record is seven, set by Paul Krause of Washington in 1964. Larry tied the lifetime record of five touchdowns on interceptions when he scored for the second time this season in the Bear game.

St. Louis had scored early in the first period and the Bears were trying to get back into the game when Wilson picked off a pass at the Chicago 18 and returned it 17 yards. Johnny Roland scored five plays later.

After the Bears narrowed the gap to 24-17 with 2:50 to go, Wilson stepped in again leaping high to grab another Bukich pass on the Cards' 14.

"He's an inspirational player," said Card Coach Charley Winner. "I don't think he's capable of playing a bad game. You can tell how much he means to the team — the players elected him their captain."

Big Ten Chase Whackiest Ever

CHICAGO (AP) —Except for the consistency of Michigan State, the current Big Ten football race has to go down as one of whackiest in history. It could get whackier.

Bogged down by an 11-16 record against nonconference foes and with Michigan State ineligible for the bowl bid because of the no-repeat clause, the Rose Bowl picture remains muddled as ever so far as the Big Ten is concerned.

Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Murray Warmath of Minnesota made this clear to the Chicago Football Writers via telephone Tuesday.

Both teams hit the road against improving opponents this week and if both lose, the run for the roses could turn into a seven-team race with two weeks remaining.

Purdue is at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Northwestern.

Aside from Michigan State, only Ohio State and Iowa have been mathematically eliminated. Purdue holds the upper hand with a 3-1 record to Minnesota's 2-1-1. The other five teams all have two losses.

By contrast, Wisconsin and Northwestern have split even in their last three games. The two teams tied each other 3-3.

If both Minnesota and Purdue win Saturday, they'll get their showdown battle the following week. If both lose, West Coast scouts will have to spread themselves all over the Midwest in the final two games of the season.

Another $1,200 pace is also scheduled on tonight's attractive card and will be bringing out such capable contenders as Mi Bloomer, River Road Joy, Duke's Victor and Schalmont.

Rolls 300 Game

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) —Roger Helle of Detroit rolled a 300 game in the first squad of Tuesday's Pro-Am tournament, opening event of the Professional Bowlers Association $65,000 championship.

TOP KHS PERFORMERS—Bill Dugan, left, was named back of the week and Jack Baltz the top lineman for Kingston High after the club's 27-6 win Saturday over Vincentian Institute. Dugan scored three touchdowns on runs of 10, 17 and 76 yards. Baltz was outstanding on defense. Kingston is idle this week and will return to action Nov. 12 at Middletown. Third Cy Young Award Unanimous for Koufax

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is true that Sandy Koufax was not exactly thunderstruck when advised he had won the Cy Young Award for the third time.

Reached at his bachelor's villa Tuesday in suburban Studio City, the superb southpaw was, however, delighted. The vote was unanimous, just as in the previous years, by the Baseball Writers of America.

The award as baseball's best pitcher to the Los Angeles Dodgers' hero amounts to an unprecedented event. No hurler had ever won it twice, as did Sandy in 1963 and 1965, much less three times.

"I'm thrilled," said Koufax, who may have been groping for words different from his reactions on the previous award occasions.

"It's a great honor to be selected more than once, and it's an even bigger thrill to win it two years in a row.

"Especially," he continued, "since we have some great pitchers in the league—in both leagues, that is."

Koufax paused, as if reflecting on the innocent, momentary omission of the American League, and quickly added with a chuckle:

No Retirement Plans

Queried about rumors that he may retire from baseball because of his famous, and infamous, ailing left elbow, Koufax merely said he has given no thought one way or another about his future plans.

The 30-year-old Koufax, who had a 27-9 record, may be the last Cy Young Award winner as it is now designed, covering both leagues.

In the 11 years the award has been given, National League pitchers have won it seven times to four for the American League. Koufax, with his three awards, has been the difference.

He also was the difference during the regular season for the Dodgers, rounding into shape quickly after his dual holdout with Don Drysdale brought him a salary in the neighborhood of $130,000.

He won more games than any other pitcher in the majors, completed 27 of his 41 starts, hurled five shuouts, led the majors in strikeous with 317 and in earned run average wih 1.73.

Pitched Clincher

Koufax also pitched the pennant clincher beating Philadelphia 6-3 on he final day of the season. But he lost his only start in the World Series as the Baltimore Orioles swept the Dodgers in four straight games.

Koufax became the fifth straight winner from a California team. Teammate Don Drysdale won the coveted award in 1962 and Dean Chance of the Angels won it in 1964.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers won the first award in 1956, followed by Warren Spahn of Milwaukee; Bob Turley, New York Yankees; Early Wynn, Chicago White Sox; Vernon Law, Pittsburgh; and Whitey Ford, New York.

Baseball writers are voting on whether the award should be given to the best pitcher in each league.

Bulls Sliding Down the Ladder

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls are paying off for their rapid start which hoisted them into a short-lived lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Bulls, who opened the season two weeks ago with a victory over the San Francisco Warriors, were handed their fourth straight setback, 137-121, Tuesday night by the same Warriors.

San Francisco climbed into a first-place tie with Detroit on the strength of the triumph, while the Bulls slumped into fourth place, 1½ games ahead of last place Los Angeles.

Chicago started fast again and held a 34-32 lead at the quarter. But the Warriors poured in 38 points in the second quarter to take a 70-56 halftime lead and led by as many as 30 points in the second half.

Dutchess Rose Wins Sire Stakes Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dutchess Rose captured the $34,023 New York Sire Stakes in 2:11 3-5 at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night.

The two-year-old filly took the lead at the start and coasted to a 3½-length victory over Walter's Jeannie. Peepsight finished third in the non-betting event.

Scotch Key won the co - featured Class A-2 pace by a head over Key Feature in 2:04 2-5. The 8-year-old gelding returned $8.60. Forshy was third.

Batavia Downs — H. B. Lind ($3.20) took the $1,200 pace by 2½ lengths over Abbe Lark in 2:11 4-5.

Grid Attendance At Record Pace

This lifted the season's aggregate for each week's 10 highest attendances to 4,224,994, representing an increase of 84,951 over last year's record pace.

The Notre Dame-Navy game in Philadelphia drew 70,101 spectators the past weekend followed by Mississippi-Louisiana State with 65,198 and Nebraska-Missouri 65,095.

SKI CHAMPION GUY Perillat of France displays perfect form that won him gold and silver medals in FIS Giant Slalom and Special Slalom during World Ski Championships held in Portillo, Chile, last August. Highlights of the colorful events will be seen in Dick Barrymore's 90-minute all color ski film, "A Cool Breath of Fresh Air" to be personally narrated by Barrymore Monday, Nov. 7, at 8 p. m. in the Kingston High school auditorium. The event is sponsored by Trail Sweepers Ski Club.

Tab New Orleans As New NFL City

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The name and owner haven't been decided but New Orleans will have a team in the National Football League when play opens next season.

"New Orleans has the population (about 1,053,000), it has the sports interest, it has the weather," said Rozelle. "Geographically, it fits into our plans and more important at this time it has the very attractive stadium available for the 1967 season.

However, city officials were hoping to construct a domed all-weather sports stadium which would be home to the football club and available for other events.

Construction depends on whether voters in the state approve a constitutional amendment Nov. 8 authorizing the project, which would be paid for by a tax on hotel and motel rooms hereabouts.

Rozelle said no one has the inside track in the bidding for ownership of the New Orleans club.

"We are going to immediately go into an investigation of the financial responsibility of those who have applied, their background, their character and this might take a couple of weeks," he added.

It was learned that Louis J. Roussel, a New Orleans oilman-financier, has lined up enough solid support from NFL club owners to block any other applicant.

The new club will be given special concessions enabling it to draft men from the college ranks and also from other NFL clubs to stock its roster. However, details have not been settled.

Arkansas Safety Punt Return Ace

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Martine Bercher, a 180-pounder with exceptional quickness, has eighth-ranked Arkansas vying again for the national punt return championship, but it's other qualities that make many regard him the finest safety in recent Razorback history.

"If he can continue to perform as he has in the first seven games," says Coach Frank Broyles, "He would have to draw strong consideration on the All-America teams."

Bercher has scored on returns of 64 yards against Tulsa and 59 yards against Texas A&M. He had a 49-yard return to set up the game-winning touchdown in a 12-7 triumph over Texas and darted 18 yards to the Oklahoma State 30 in the final three minutes of the season opener as Arkansas went on to a 14-10 comeback victory.

Against Texas he forced four incomplete passes by cracking a receiver as he took the pass and he added two others against A&M. Bercher has intercepted two passes in Arkansas' zone defense, both when the opponent had gotten behind the defensive halfbacks.

In the last six years Arkansas has led the nation in punt returns four times—Lance Alworth twice and Kenny Hatfield twice—and finished second once.

Bercher now has 20 returns for 304 yards, a 15.2 average per return.

Spartan-ND Game Stays Regional

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An NCAA spokesman says the Michigan State — Notre Dame game Nov. 19 must be a regional television game under NCA rules, which cannot be changed without going against the reasons why the rules are in existence.

"The NCAA football television plan specifies no member school may appear more than once nationally in any one year, nor more than three times in the two-year period of the plan," the spokesman said.

"The appearance rule is the guts of the NCAA plan. It is designed to reduce as far as possible adverse effects of live television on gate attendance of other college games being played.

"If the NCAA altered the rule, the whole reason for the plan would be negated."

Standardbred Sale Opens in Harrisburg

Buyers from as far away as Italy, Sweden, France, New Zealand and Australia, were looking over yearlings submitted by Hanover Shoe Farm, one of the largest breeders of trotters and pacers in the world; A.B.C. Farms, Ontario, Canada; Peter Pan Farms, Washington, Pa., and many others.

At Tuesday's sale, Clay, a pacer who has done the mile in under two minues, brought the top price for the day of $43,000. The horse, owned by driver - trainer Billy Houghton was sold as a yearling here two years ago.

W. W. Smith, a four-year-old gelding that recently set a world pacing record at Saratoga Raceway, was sold for $40,000.

SORRY ABOUT THAT, Mr. Dawson. Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson has some bruised ribs, but the fans don't seem to mind. At least the one above doesn't.

LISBON (AP) — In the first bullfight held in Portugal since the fatal goring of Jaoquin Jose Correia Oct. 16, Jose Manuel Lupi suffered a broken leg Tuesday. The bull upended Lupi's horse and slammed the fallen bullfighter into the barriers.

Packers' Defense Best in National

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense continues to dominate the National Football League with both Green Bay and St. Louis holding the conference leads because of their ability to throttle the enemy offense.

The Cardinals showed how it is done Monday night when they turned back the Chicago Bears with the help of three interceptions by Larry Wilson.

Green Bay also intercepted three passes in beating Detroit Sunday and maintained their position as the top defensive club in the league. The Packers have allowed an average of 234.5 yards in eight games.

The Packer defense has made 17 interceptions and returned them for 415 yards, tops in the league, and five touchdowns, one short of the NFL record.

Add Billy Burke Golf Hall of Fame

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Billy Burke has been voted into golf's Hall of Fame and Billy Casper has been named the 1966 golfer of the year.

Burke, who won the 1931 U.S. Open championship in an epic, 72-hole playoff with George Von Elm, was elected by living members of the Hall of Fame.

The 65-year-old Burke, now living in retirement at Clearwater, Fla., is best known for his marathon match with Von Elm. After it was played, the U. S. Golf Association limited future playoffs to 18 holes.

Burke was a quarterfinalist three times in the PGA championship when it was a match play event—in 1936, 1938 and 1939. He played on the 1931 and 1933 U. S. Ryder Cup teams.

Casper, two-time winner of the U. S. Open, has been one of the top four players for the last decade. Through the Sahara Invitational this year, his official earnings stood at $116,623.

Boston, Montreal To Clash Tonight

Great things have been forecast for the young and hustling Boston Bruins, who gave the National Hockey League-leading Chicago Black Hawks a swipe of the claw Tuesday night.

The Bruins tossed a stonewall defense and the sharp goaltending of Bernie Parent against the Hawks to walk off with a 3-2 victory.

The loss was the first in five games for the Hawks, who showed the effects of a six-day layoff. The triumph enabled the Bruins to bounce out of a last-place tie into third place, one point behind Montreal and three behind the Hawks.

Only one game is scheduled Wednesday in the NHL, and that finds Montreal at Toronto.

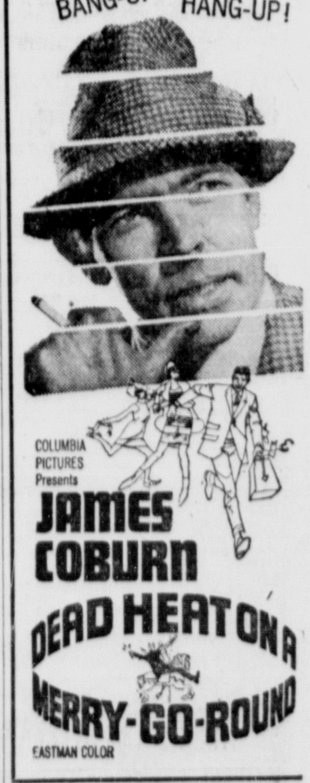

Bonnie Captain

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)— Senior forward George Carter will captain the 1966-67 basketball team of St. Bonaventure University, Coach Larry Weise says.

The 6-foot-5 Carter of Silver Creek has been the team's leading rebounder and scorer for the last two seasons.

WOODSTOCK TESTIMONIAL — The upstairs dining room of Deanie's Restaurant here was crowded with admirers of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffmann, of Tinker Street, last Saturday night. Well-wishers attended in large numbers to honor the Hoffmanns at a testimonial dinner and to pay tribute to this local couple, who voluntarily handled all night fire alarm calls here for the past 16 years. The evening was marred only by the fact that Mr. Hoffmann was absent due to illness. It was a gala event, nevertheless, and Mrs. Hoffmann graciously accepted a $1,000 purse as a token of the esteem of Woodstock citizens and its Fire Department. Among principals at the event were (front l-r) Woodstock supervisor William R. West Jr., Mrs. Hoffmann and Woodstock Fire Chief Duncan Wilson. In the rear (l-r) are: Raymond Cocks, who served as dinner chairman; Otto Sonnenberg, one of the township's fire commissioners; Joseph Raymond, fire commissioner and guest speaker; and Richard Mellert, master of ceremonies. Promises Efforts to Secure Community Center Locally

Dr. Audrey B. Hamilton, Democratic candidate for Woodstock Town Councilman, has issued the following statement regarding a Woodstock Community Center:

"I believe it is essential that the Woodstock Town Board give its immediate, serious attention to a recreation center for our citizens of all ages. The problems of Woodstock's teenagers have been with us for a long time, but have been largely ignored by our Town Board. The young people of Woodstock have shown their recognition of these problems by their tremendous efforts over the past years to raise funds for a youth center building to provide permanent facilities for their activities. They have made every effort to help themselves, and every effort to help the community in a variety of ways. By dint of hard work they have raised over $5,000 for a new building. Although plans were drawn up as long as 12 years ago for such a building, our town government has not exercised the leadership necessary to bring these plans to fruition. Federal funds are available through such laws as the Neighborhood Facilities Program (Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965, Sect. 703, P. L. 89-117) to provide from 2/3 to ¾ of the construction costs of Community Centers. This would provide permanent facilities not only for our teenagers, but also for citizens of all ages. However, these funds must be applied for, they do not come to a community merely by wishing for them.

"Last May, the teenage program undertaken under the guidance of the hardworking Recreation Committee was terminated by the Town Board. The wisdom of discontinuing this program at the Beginning of the summer season, when teenagers have the greatest amount of idle time, is to be seriously questioned.

"We must be more concerned with our young people; they are the future of our community. We must restore their faith in their community. We must unhesitatingly give them our full support, interest and co-operation. How can we afford to ignore their plaintive requests? In other communities, teenagers have voiced their resentments by more violent means. Let us do something before it is too late; before they no longer turn to us.

"The means of acquiring a Community Center are available to us without overtaxing our resources. I am totally dissatisfied with the lack of concern shown by town officials. If elected, I will make every effort to see that our younger citizens are given every assistance possible from their Town Board."

MD Sponsoring Sale and March

Local residents are reminded that Woodstock Supervisor William R. West Jr. has proclaimed Friday as Muscular Dystrophy Day here and that members of the Woodstock Youth Center and other teenagers will be canvassing door-to-door Saturday for donations and contributions to MD.

John Collins, president of the Ulster County MD Association, said today that, by volunteering for the March for Muscular Dystrophy, "Youth Center teenagers are setting a high standard of 'juvenile decency.'" He also emphasized the need for even more volunteers and described this annual campaign of MDAA as the major source of funds for research, wheelchairs, crutches and hospital bills, all badly needed.

Meanwhile, Marian Umhey, publisher and editor of the Ulster County Townsman, announced this week that the Townsman and the MD Association will jointly sponsor a rummage sale Saturday, Nov. 12, at the Bradley Meadows Shopping Center. The sale will be held in that section of the center now being used as Republican headquarters and all proceeds will go to help aid the victims of muscular dystrophy.

Plant 400 Tulips At Local School

Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held its annual luncheon at the Katsbaan Inn last week. Mrs. Daniel Lamb, Mrs. Kenneth Beadle and Mrs. John Althiser were in charge and made the cornucopia centerpieces for each table. Mrs. Beadle made a unique Christmas tree ornament which was awarded to Mrs. Albert Smith.

Mrs. William C. Waldele, president, presided at the short business session. She announced that permission had been given by the Board of Education to plant tulip bulbs at the Main Street School. A group of Garden Club members met Friday morning and planted 400 bulbs at this school. The club also gave five copies of the book entitled "Tune in to Nature" by Ruth Smiley to the libraries of the elementary schools of the district.

Mrs. John Whritenor is chairman for the Christmas Memory Tree. This is a yearly project by the club and proceeds are used in its civic beautification work. Anyone wishing to buy a bulb in memory of a loved one may contact Mrs. Whritenor or one of her committee: Mrs. August Fellows, Mrs. Daniel Lamb, Mrs. Kenneth Beadle or Mrs. Robert Finger. Smaller bulbs will be used this year, and it was voted by the club to donate its bigger lights to the Chamber of Commerce for use. The club will also decorate a window in one of the empty stores for the Yuletide.

Mrs . Kenneth B. Robinson, Director of Third District, spoke briefly to the club on work with Juniors. She displayed several articles made by Juniors.

Members are reminded to have their dried arrangements for the shutins at Thanksgiving ready and to take them to the home of Miss Jane Ziegler, Partition Street, by Nov. 21.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Daniel Lamb, Market Street, on Dec. 7 at 2:30 p. m.

Refused Seats at Met

NEW YORK (AP) — About 30 latecomers were refused seating Tuesday night at the Metropolitan Opera House for the entire performance of Richard Strauss' one-act "Elektra."

Despite the shortness of the opera — an hour and 40 minutes — and protests by those barred, the management refused to break its new policy of not admitting latecomers.

James Heffernan, the house manager, said he told the latecomers that "they had an eight-minute leeway since the opera started eight minutes late, and they still couldn't get there in time."

Hefferman said "our mail shows Met enthusiasts are 90 per cent in favor of our policy of not seating latecomers until there is a natural break, such as intermission."

U.S. Denies Blame

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The U.S. Embassy here informed the Organization of African Unity today that the United States played no part in the arrest last week of 19 Guineans by the Ghana governmsnt.

Despite U.S. denials, President Sekou Toure of Guinea, who has accused the United States of complicity in the affair, called for more anti-American demonstrations in a broadcast in his capital of Conakry.

He claims the United States was responsible because the Guineans were aboard a Pan American World Airways plane when they were detained.

The Ghana government seized the 19 Guineans Saturday when the group made a stopover in Accra on their way to Addis Ababa. Among the Guineans was Foreign Minister Lansana Beauvogui, who was on his way to the OAU meeting in Addis Ababa.

Claims Democrats Are Involved in SLA Shakedowns

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that three state legislators and a city judge, all Democrats, were involved in a Queens liquor license shakdown plot.

Rockefeller, who is seeking re-election, told a news conference he would not identify the Democrats because he would be accused of playing politics so near Election Day.

The governor said he had ordered an investivation of the affair by the State Investigation Commission.

He said the judge who is involved was a former member of the State Liquor Authority, but insisted that no one presently in the agency is involved.

One man has been arrested in the shakedown attempt, said to have been made last July.

Decide to Force Erhard Out; Bonn Chief Since 1963

BONN, Germany (AP)—Top Christian Democratic leaders decided today to force Chancellor Ludwig Erhard to resign, well-informed sources reported.

The sources said the decision was made at a closed-door parley of the inner circle of the party's parliamentary steering committee. Erhard was not present.

They added that Erhard, chancellor since 1963, then would be asked to help the party choose a successor. Erhard took over after Konrad Adenauer stepped down.

Erhard was meeting with his rump Cabinet to work out of the tax increases which brought the resignation of four Free Democratic party ministers last week and set off the crisis that led to demands for his resignation.

The 1967 budget has a hole in it estimated at $725 million to a billion. At least $450 million of this is needed to fulfill promises to buy arms in the United States.

Women to Push Market Boycott

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— A group of housewives opposed to high food prices plan to continue their protests today by beginning a one - week boycott of area supermarkets offering "anything free as promotional gimmicks".

The group, called "Housewives for Lower Food Prices," believes the "promotional gimmicks" are partially the reason for exhorbitant prices, Mrs. Armand P. Herreras, of suburban Williamsville, an organizer of the women, said Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in nearby Lackawanna, a group of women known as "Community Housewives Against Prices" announced they would picket a supermarket in their city Friday.

The Lackawanna organization protests not only high food prices, but also the quality of meat, poultry and vegetables, and promotional games and stamps.

Mental Health Services Given By Chest Agency

Approximately three-quarters of the operating budget of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health is covered by the Community Chest of Ulster County. The association is a voluntary organization entirely financed by voluntary contributors. The remaining quarter of its budget is raised by annual membership dues, and by an independent appeal in those parts of Ulster County not at present covered by the Community Chest.

Early symptoms of mental illness have many forms, ranging from nervous disorders in children to emotional stress in adults. If these are understood, serious illness can often be avoided. In these early stages, broad understanding and guidance on the part of teacher, social worker, physician, minister, relative or friend, is of utmost importance.

Program Areas

This is one of the areas in which the Ulster County Association for Mental Health seeks to provide direction through insitutes and workshops for professional people,, and programs for the general public.

Another facet of the program is studying the needs for additional treatment facilities in Ulster County, and interpreting these needs to the public, so that appropriate action can be taken. A recent instance of this was a special meeting held in Kingston. William H. van Benschoten, association president, invited members of the Ulster County Mental Health Board and the County Public Health Committee, the medical director of the Ulster County Mental Health Center and the medical director of Middletown State Hospital, to meet with Dr. Hyman Pleasure, Dep. Commissioner for Local Services, of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, and members of the Association's executive committee, to examine the needs for a psychiatric day care center for the county.

Troy Considering $4.28 Tax Rate Hike

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Troy city councilmen are considering a budget that would result in a $4.28 hike in the tax rate.

According to the estimated totals, the tax rate in 1967 would be $39.96 per $1,000 on the city's total assessed valuation of $105,783,403.

The 1967 budget, presented Monday by City Manager Robert A. Stierer, proposes to raise $6,542,890—highest in the city's history.

The city manager cited increased expenditures because of salary raises for city employes, boosts in continuing obligations such as the State Retirement System and police and firemen's pensions, expansion of city programs, and higher costs of materials and supplies.

Troy has a population of approximately 68,000.

Task Force Group Considers County Agencies Needs

Plans for meeting the future health, welfare, recreation and character building services throughout the county by both voluntary and tax-supported agencies have been released by the Citizens Survey Committe of Ulster County.

The committee met Thursday night at the George Washington School, Kingston, with agencies to provide face to face discussions with the task force committees for greater understanding of the recommendations and to begin discussing ways and means for implementation. The committee consisting of representative citizens, from all areas of the county, has been working on the survey for three years. Six consultants, experts in the respective field, were employed for more objective analysis of present and future needs and the best way for cooperative interaction between voluntary and tax-supported agencies. The agency meeting was chaired by Cliffford A. Henze, committee president and Dr. Herbert Derman, survey chairman.

A Community Report of Health, Welfare, Recreation and Character Building Services in Ulster County is now released and may be obtained by writing to the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County, UPO 343, Kingston, N. Y., 12401.

The survey committee's report has been entered into the United States Congressional Record by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick and summary distribution by his office.

Social Security Changes Permit Widows' Benefits

Many widows may be unaware of a change in the social security law and still think they have to wait until they become 62 to collect social security widow's benefits on the social security account of their deceased husband. This is the concern of George J. Habernig, district manager of social security in Kingston.

Until the change in the law, effective September 1965, the widow of a man who had worked under social security could not qualify for monthly widow's benefits until she reached 62. Now, she can elect to have her payments start as early as her 60th birthday, but in smaller installments to take account of the longer time that benefits will be paid.

Habernig pointed out that generally women who choose to take these reduced benefits will collect about the same value in benefits over the years. He urged widows, who may have been waiting for their 62nd birthdays, to call or visit the social security office nearest their homes to find out how the age-60 benefits would work out in their particular cases.

Negro Teeners Face 'Witch' Night Charges

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) — Five Negro teen-agers faced charges Wednesday as a result of Halloween night rioting in the midtown area in which six policemen were injured and two store windows were smashed.

The youths arrested ranged in age from 16 to 19. They were variously charged with disorderly conduct, assault, and resisting arrest.

The rioting began after some 400 Negro youngsters reportedly were told to leave the village recreational center when they became unruly.

Housewives Are Stumping County For Rockefeller

Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan, chairman Ulster County Housewives for Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that her organization is working throughout the county to bring to all housewives the many reasons why they should support the re-election of Governor Nelson A. Rockerfeller, the candidate that "CARES."

Mrs. Hanrahan said, "Gov. Rockefeller started the Scholar Incentive Plans, tripled Regents Scholarships and new state universities are being built from Long Island to Lake Erie. He knows that hard working, self-sufficient people can get sick and can have trouble meeting today's high medical costs, that's why he started Medicaid. He cares about our lakes, rivers and beaches ruined by pollution, that's why he launched the billion dollar Pure Waters Program. The Rockefeller Administration began a Consumer Frauds and Protection Bureau in Attorney General Lefkowitz's office to protect the people of our state from gyps and cheats."

"And our youth? He's helping them. The aging? He's serving them. Human rights? He's fighting for them. Crime and narcotics addiction? He's fighting against them."

These and many other reasons have been brought to the housewives of Ulster County by Mrs. Hanrahan and her committee during the past weeks. This week two meetings were screduled, one held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Norma Burhans and another Thursday at the home of Mrs. Howard C. St. John.

Housewives serving with Mrs. Hanrahan are: Mrs. Frank Klepeis and Mrs. Howard Mansfield, Rosendale; Mrs. Sally Seaver, Town of Kingston; Mrs. Robert Davidson, Town of Olive; Mrs. Jane Stokes, Gardiner; Mrs. Peter Savago, New Paltz; Mrs. William Brinnier, Saugerties; Mrs. Jack Smith, Marbletown; Mrs. Rosalyn Schoonmaker, Plattekill; Mrs. Samuel Pepper, Hurley; Mrs. Viola DeFabio, Marlboro; and Mrs. Harold Macholdt, Town of Ulster.

Speakers have been Mrs. Bernhardt S. Kramer, H. Clark Bell, Richard Winfield assistant council to Gov. Rockefeller, and Deputy Director State Motor Vehicle Bureau, Al Danzing. Mrs. William Krum is public relations chairman for Mrs. Hanrahan.

Union Will Open Grocery in Protest

TICONDEROGA, N. Y. (AP) — A union local says it will open a grocery in protest of high prices at supermarkets in this Lake Champlain area.

Howard Porter, president of Local 497 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union, said the decision to open a store was reached after picketing at three supermarkts produced no price reductions.

About 100 housewives and union members, working in shifts, picketed the markets last week and Monday. Porter said the managers of the markets—Grand Union, Atlantic & Pacific (A&P), and Save - Way—would not meet with the protesters to discuss high food prices.

He said the union currently is trying to raise $10,000 to open the store.
